Israel Says Egypt Must Pull Missiles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israel said Thursday night that Washington's call for the Egyptians and Russians to stop violating the Middle East cease-fire is not enough. Premier Golda Meir insisted that the Egyptians pull back the anti-aircraft missiles installed in the Suez Canal zone since Aug. 7.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said he approved of a cabinet plan to give the United States time to get the missiles removed through diplomatic means. But he warned that Israel is capable of "taking military steps, if needed."

"We want the violations stopped," declared U.S. State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey. "In the meantime we believe it is of the utmost importance that the talks between the parties ... proceed forthwith."

It was understood that U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam in Moscow and Donald C. Bergus, the top U.S. diplomat in Cairo, were asking for a stop to the missile buildup rather than a rollback. Washington reportedly did not want to make its demands so strong that they would prompt the Russians and the Egyptians to abandon the quest for peace.

Mrs. Meir in a speech to her Labor party said her government was insisting "that the United States press the Russians and Egyptians to uphold their obligations regarding the maintenance of the cease-fire and military standstill and the return of the status quo at the canal."

Reliable Israeli sources said the United States had offered to supply Israel antimissile electronic equipment and weapons if there was no demand for withdrawal of the missiles. The sources said the Israelis rejected this as "inadequate."

Despite the expressed U.S. desire to get the indirect Israeli-Egyptian-Jordanian peace talks at U.N. headquarters moving, Israeli sources said their government would not send its delegate, Ambassador Yosef Teikoah, back to New York until it got satisfaction from the United States.

In the first Egyptian comment on the U.S. statement of support for the Israeli charges, the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram accused the United States of "insisting on accommodating the aggressive and expansionist designs of Israel."

Bomb Suspect Being Sought In New York

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — State police searched today for a car believed to be carrying one of four youths sought in connection with the bombing of a University of Wisconsin research laboratory.

The suspect, Dwight Armstrong, 18, and a companion were reportedly stopped for having a faulty muffler early Thursday evening in the city of Little Falls, about 25 miles from Utica.

State police said one of the pair identified himself as Armstrong to local police officers.

They were allowed to proceed because, state police said, they were not immediately connected with the men named in the warrants.

The two men told police they were en route to Utica to visit Leo F. Burt, a 22-year-old youth of that name also was named in the federal warrants, along with Armstrong's brother, Karleton, 22, and David S. Fine, 18.

In Madison, Wis., the father of the Armstrong said Thursday night his elder son in a telephone call home, had denied responsibility for the Aug. 24 blast.

At the same time, authorities in nearby Sauk County said they wanted to question the young men about a January attempt to bomb a Wisconsin Army ordnance plant, and the discovery in February of an unexploded bomb at a nearby electric substation.

Donald Armstrong, father of two of the suspects, said he last heard from his son, Karleton, early Wednesday before the FBI announced issuance of warrants charging sabotage, conspiracy and destruction of government property.

Man Released; Court Decides He's Competent

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Dr. John R. Brostman, 40, was released from Geauga County jail Thursday after Probate Judge Robert Ford said court-ordered tests showed Brostman was mentally competent.

Brostman, who is charged with assault in the beating of his wife, had been held in jail for 10 days on a Chester Township police sergeant's affidavit saying he was mentally ill.

Brostman's attorney, H. Donald Zimmerman, said Thursday the affidavit was based on "neighborhood gossip" and that Brostman would plead innocent to the assault charge.

Brostman's wife Mary, 40, who was found beaten and unconscious at the couple's Chester Township home Aug. 14, was in satisfactory condition at Huron Road Hospital Thursday.

Vinton County Hunt Intensifies For Suspect

McARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — The search for 59-year-old Oliver Mills intensified late Thursday following a fire at the accused slayer's home and reports of mysterious rifle fire nearby.

Mills has been accused of the slaying of Vinton County Sheriff Harold Steele and the wounding of a deputy Monday.

The sheriff's department said fire struck Mills' home in Creola just north of McArthur late Thursday burning it to the ground. The authorities blamed a severe electrical storm for the blaze.

Earlier, sheriff's deputies swarmed the area of Mills' home following reports that a passing car had been fired on from a nearby wooded area.

A spokesman for the sheriff's department said rifle shots were exchanged, but that deputies could not identify the hidden assailant who escaped. No injuries were reported.

The shotgun slaying of Sheriff Steele and Mills' flight into wooded country has touched off one of the largest manhunts in recent Ohio history. The search is concentrated in the rugged northern Vinton County and southern Hocking County areas.

Dogs, helicopters and deputies from a number of neighboring sheriff's departments have joined in the sweep of the dense terrain.

A reward of $1,000 has been offered for Mills, who is reputed to be an expert woodsman and once spent two years hiding out in the same area evading a knifing charge.

Mills is said to have shot both Steele and his deputy, Dave Wilbur, as Steele attempted to serve Mills with a warrant relating to a dispute with an electric company wanting to work on power lines on Mills' property.

Steele was shot as he entered the house to present the warrant. He was buried Thursday.

THE Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce noted today there are still openings available for the first annual Farmer's Market scheduled 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 12. Most area gardens have been hit by the recent dry spell, but with the hope that last night's showers gave late summer truck crops a "shot in the arm" the deadline for registering for participation in the event has been extended to next Tuesday.

AGRI-Business day is Sept. 16 at A. W. Marion Park. Sponsored by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, the Pickaway County Agricultural Extension Department, the Soil Conservation Service and the Ohio Department, it promises to be of outstanding interest this year to both rural and urban residents. There will be tours of the soils demonstration pits and a pork barbecue. Plans will be finalized for the event Tuesday morning.

Oberlin Graduates Give Groups Money

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — The 1970 graduates of Oberlin College say they're giving three city organizations at least $4,000 from the class fund they boosted by doing without traditional caps and gowns in May.

Class fund officers say a Head Start playground is to get $2,500 and possibly $3,000, a scholarship program is to receive $1,000 and $500 is to go to the Oberlin Community Welfare Council.

Ordaz Hits United States Trade Curbs

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Speaking at a gala state dinner tendered by President Nixon, President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico has sounded a warning that U.S. restrictions on international trade may imperil the economy of Latin America.

It was the one somber note at a gathering of 660 VIP guests from both sides of the border Thursday night devoted mainly to lavish expressions of Mexican-American friendship.

Nixon capped a day-long salute to the visiting chief of state by describing Mexico as "the country we have a special place for in our hearts."

Nixon staged the glittering show for Diaz Ordaz at the 82-year-old, Victorian-style Hotel del Coronado just two weeks after reaching a border boundary agreement with the Mexican president in the below-the-border resort town of Puerto Vallarta.

Guests included former President Lyndon B. Johnson, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and headliners of the U.S. sports and entertainment world.

In his speech, Diaz Ordaz said he brought "solidarity and affection from the people of Mexico" but had this message of caution:

"There is true alarm in the countries of Latin America because in the United States protectionist tendencies seem to be gaining strength."

"Should they prevail, there will be a tremendous blow to the economy of the rest of the continent."

Report Massive Red Move Against South Vietnam Set

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH (AP) — In the two months since U.S. troops pulled out of Cambodia, Gen. Lon Nol's government has steadily lost ground in its war against the Communists.

Washington has granted Phnom Penh $49 million in military aid and has committed limited U.S. air power to back up government troops in the field. But this has not halted, much less reversed, the deteriorating military and political situation.

The overriding impression is that the government's strategy of abandoning more than half the country to Communist control to insure the defense of the capital and the nation's heartland is not working well. The plan called for abandoning the entire northeast, most of the extreme north, and some areas that were once held by South Vietnamese and American troops.

The heartland starts southeast of Phnom Penh and runs in a wide belt to the northwest, taking in the rich rice- and fish-producing areas on both sides of Cambodia's huge lake, the Tonle Sap. Most of the country's population is centered in this area.

But nearly all of the north shore of the lake is controlled by the Communists. The government strongpoints at Siem Reap, 155 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, and Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of the capital, are not doing well. Roads to Siem Reap are out periodically and Kompong Thom, a provincial capital, has been surrounded for months. Government casualties have been heavy at Kompong Thom, and food is so short that soldiers and townspeople slaughtered the animals in the city's zoo for meat.

The Communists have made no serious attempt to attack Phnom Penh, but the city's defenses are not particularly strong. The capital is particularly wide open to rocket and mortar attacks from across the Mekong River to the east.

Four of Cambodia's seven major highways have been closed almost continuously for three or more months. Highway 4, which links Phnom Penh with Kompong Som, the country's only remaining access to the ocean, remains open only because enemy troops have not blown one of the many lightly defended bridges running through the Elephant Mountains.

On the northern front, fishing areas populated mainly by ethnic Vietnamese have provided more or less willing recruits and transportation workers to the Communists, especially after the Cambodians slaughtered (Continued on Page 2)

FURY — Aftermath of the furious storm which struck in the area of Route 23 and the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road is shown in the above photo. The tornado wrecked buildings, tore up trees and caused an undetermined amount of damage before moving out of the area.

A tornado touched down in the area of Route 23 and the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road at 9:30 p.m. Thursday leaving destruction and debris in its wake.

The storm tore into the Certified Oil Station on Route 23, moved the building off its foundation, scattered oil cans and other items in its path, ripped the rear off the building and left utter chaos in the area.

Mike Brucker, station manager, was waiting on a car when the storm hit. "I heard a tremendous roar," Brucker stated, "and saw a huge white fence fly through the air and land on my parked car."

A large tree at the rear of the station was uprooted and dropped across the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road. Another tree had the bark peeled as if someone had used a knife.

BEFORE striking the station the tornado had lifted a barn from the James Siniff residence

Actor Horton Enters New York Hospital

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Film star Edward Everett Horton has been admitted to Glens Falls hospital for treatment of an undisclosed ailment.

The 83-year-old character actor was taken to the hospital Thursday from his Adirondack summer home at nearby Lake George. His condition was described as satisfactory.

Pesticide Bans Said Having Little Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's flurry of action against pesticides has failed to reduce significantly the amount of chemicals polluting the environment, and the bans it has ordered aren't likely to be effective for at least a year.

The Agriculture Department, over the past 10 months, has announced cancellation or suspension of a number of the registered uses for DDT and two of its close chemical relatives—pesticides containing one form of the poisonous metal mercury, and the herbicide 2,4,5-T, which has been shown to cause birth defects in animals.

The actions, however, left intact registered uses that account for 75 per cent of domestic applications of DDT and 2,4,5-T. And government officials concede that because of legal loopholes and possibly lengthy appeals by manufacturers some retail sales of the pesticides for uses officially banned will continue until at least next year and perhaps for two to three years.

Nevertheless, government health officials say the Agriculture Department has demonstrated a new and unaccustomed willingness to act against pesticides that appear to threaten the environment.

Furthermore, the Nixon administration appears to be fulfilling its pledge to implement recommendations made last December by the blue-ribbon Mark commission appointed by the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to examine the problem of pesticides.

A start has been made on the commission's No. 1 recommendation that all DDT uses except those "essential to the preservation of human health and welfare" end by 1972.

And both HEW and the Interior Department have, because of the commission's recommendation, gained an equal voice with the Agriculture Department in deciding pesticide safety.

Still, the government has started action against only 5 of the 19 pesticides the commission listed as posing a "potential health hazard to man" because of laboratory links to cancer or birth defects in animals. The commission recommended "prudent steps to minimize human exposure" to the 19 but set no time limit.

The five pesticides affected by restriction so far are DDT and the related aldrin and dieldrin,

2,4,5-T, and mercury-based compounds.

The remaining 14 are amitrol, aramite, avadex, bis 2-chloroethyl ether, chlorbenzilate, heptachlor, mirex 2-hydroxy-ethyl hydrazine, strobane, captan, carbaryl, 2,4-D, folpet, and PCNB.

The government has begun usage reviews of two of these 14—heptachlor and strobane. Reviews are the first step toward possible restrictions.

But even the restrictions announced so far have barely dent the rapidly growing pesticide market.

10 Divisions
Said Moving
Through Laos

PHON PENH (AP) — Up to 10 Communist divisions are now in Cambodia or moving down the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos with orders from Hanoi to launch a major new offensive in South Vietnam, senior Communist diplomatic sources report.

American military sources in Saigon say they could not confirm or deny the report.

The sources said American warplanes have flown about 2,000 sorties against North Vietnamese positions in Laos and Cambodia during the past week to blunt any enemy plans for a massive offensive across the border into South Vietnam. But they said this was not unusual, that American planes have been waging such a bombing campaign for several months.

A sortie is one flight by one plane.

An American source in Phnom Penh said any enemy force of the size reported by the Communist sources would never be permitted to mass on the Cambodian border as such forces have done for previous offensives. He implied that American ground forces might enter Cambodia as they did last May and June in the operation which the U.S. Command said cleared out many of the enemy base camps on the Cambodian side of the border.

Nixon Sets More Talks On Mideast

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon, tapering off a fortnight's stay at the Western White House, made appointments for talks today with diplomats, a mayor and a German politician.

The Far East and the Middle East claimed attention in half-hour sessions with the men Nixon has tapped for ambassadorial assignments in Cambodia and Jordan.

Henry C. Swank, ambassador-designate to Cambodia, preceded L. Dean Brown, ambassador-designate to Jordan, on the presidential schedule.

Nixon and Swank were expected to go over the reports that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew brought back on Cambodia from his five-nation tour of Asia.

Nixon and Brown were slated to focus on the uneasy cease-fire joined by Israel, Jordan and Egypt.

Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles drew a spot on the presidential appointments slate and so did Rainer Barzel, leader of the opposition Christian Democratic party in West Germany.

The presidential afternoon was free for either office chores or a bit of relaxation on a beach.

Jobless Rate Inches Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment last month inched up to a near 6 year high of 5.1 per cent of the work force, while total employment dropped nearly 400,000, the Labor Department said today.

Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the August rise of one-tenth of one per cent in the national jobless rate was not significant, but the reports indicated the nation's continuing economic slowdown including a shorter work week and less overtime.

The report said the actual number of jobless workers declined 300,000 to a total of 4.2 million last month, but that seasonal factors and a decline of 700,000 in the labor force caused the bureau to compute the one-tenth of one per cent increase in the unemployment rate.

In the past year, Goldstein said, unemployment has soared 85 per cent among men and 30 per cent each among women and teen-agers.

The August jobless rate of 5.1 per cent equaled the highest rate since October of 1963. The rate last was higher, 5.2 per cent, in June of 1964, Goldstein said.

Sinatra Endorses Ex-Governor's Son

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra, a veteran Democratic fund-raiser, stunned Californians earlier this year with an endorsement of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, who seeks re-election.

But for secretary of state, he said Thursday, he will support Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr.—son of former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the man defeated for re-election in 1966 by Reagan.

Vinton County Hunt Intensifies For Suspect

McARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — The search for 59-year-old Oliver Mills intensified late Thursday following a fire at the accused slayer's home and reports of mysterious rifle fire nearby.

Mills has been accused of the slaying of Vinton County Sheriff Harold Steele and the wounding of a deputy Monday.

The sheriff's department said fire struck Mills' home in Creola just north of McArthur late Thursday burning it to the ground. The authorities blamed a severe electrical storm for the blaze.

Earlier, sheriff's deputies swarmed the area of Mills' home following reports that a passing car had been fired on from a nearby wooded area.

A spokesman for the sheriff's department said rifle shots were exchanged, but that deputies could not identify the hidden assailant who escaped. No injuries were reported.

The shotgun slaying of Sheriff Steele and Mills' flight into wooded country has touched off one of the largest manhunts in recent Ohio history. The search is concentrated in the rugged northern Vinton County and southern Hocking County area.

Dogs, helicopters and deputies from a number of neighboring sheriff's departments have joined in the sweep of the dense terrain.

A reward of $1,000 has been offered for Mills, who is reputed to be an expert woodsman and once spent two years hiding out in the same area evading a knifing charge.

Mills is said to have shot both Steele and his deputy, Dave Wilbur, as Steele attempted to serve Mills with a warrant relating to a dispute with an electric company wanting to work on power lines on Mills' property.

Steele was shot as he entered the house to present the warrant. He was buried Thursday.

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Film star Edward Everett Horton has been admitted to Glens Falls hospital for treatment of an undisclosed ailment.

The storm missed the Ralph Oldaker home on the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road but struck the cornfield behind the house, stripping the ears of corn from the stalks.

LONDON (AP) — A man charged with demanding $3.4 million in a kidnap threat against Aristotle Onassis and his wife Jacqueline was charged today with threatening to kill her.

The extra charge was revealed as John William Humphrys, 58, was ordered to remain held without bail until a jury trial begins next week. Humphrys, a British electronics engineer, was arrested July 24.

In the preliminary hearing at London's Guildhall Court, Humphrys was accused of sending John Newham, a shipping agent for Onassis, a letter threatening to kill the widow of President John F. Kennedy. Further details of the alleged threat were not disclosed.

At an earlier hearing he was accused of demanding more than $3 million from Newham to prevent a kidnap of the Onassis.

Jobless Rate Inches Higher
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment last month inched up to a near 6 year high of 5.1 per cent of the work force, while total employment dropped nearly 400,000, the Labor Department said today.

Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the August rise of one-tenth of one per cent in the national jobless rate was not significant, but the reports indicated the nation's continuing economic slowdown including a shorter work week and less overtime.

The report said the actual number of jobless workers declined 300,000 to a total of 4.2 million last month, but that seasonal factors and a decline of 700,000 in the labor force caused the bureau to compute the one-tenth of one per cent increase in the unemployment rate.

In the past year, Goldstein said, unemployment has soared 83 per cent among men and 30 per cent among women and teen-agers.

The August jobless rate of 5.1 per cent equaled the highest rate since October of 1964. The rate last was higher, 5.2 per cent, in June of 1964, Goldstein said.

10 Divisions Said Moving Through Laos

PHON PENH (AP) — Up to 10 Communist divisions are now in Cambodia or moving down the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos with orders from Hanoi to launch a major new offensive in South Vietnam, senior Communist diplomatic sources report.

American military sources in Saigon said they could not confirm or deny the report.

The sources said American warplanes have flown about 2,000 sorties against North Vietnamese positions in Laos and Cambodia during the past week to blunt any enemy plans for a massive offensive across the border into South Vietnam. But they said this was not unusual, that American planes have been waging such a bombing campaign for several months.

A sortie is one flight by one plane.

An American source in Phnom Penh said any enemy force of the size reported by the Communist sources would never be permitted to mass on the Cambodian border as such forces have done for previous offensives. He implied that American ground forces might enter Cambodia as they did last May and June in the operation which the U.S. Command said cleared out many of the enemy base camps on the Cambodian side of the border.

Cambodian and Western military sources said there is clear evidence that the North Vietnamese are rebuilding their border bases in the remote jungles of eastern Cambodia, bordering South Vietnam. Some of these bases are said to be in the same position as those cleared by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops during their May-June action.

One Communist source with indirect lines to Hanoi said the gathering force included North Vietnam's 1st, 2nd, 5th, 7th, 9th, 20th and 25th divisions. Cambodian intelligence already has reported the 1st, 5th, 7th, 9th and 20th divisions in the country.

Some sources believe the attack on South Vietnam will begin in about two months.

Communist sources say the plan for a major offensive in South Vietnam reflects a decision in Hanoi to make the main target South Vietnam again and not the destruction of Cambodian Premier Lon Nol's regime.

Possible aims were said to be the disruption of the Saigon government's increasingly strong military machine, reversal of the Vietnamization program and the inflicting of serious new casualties on American troops to quicken the antiwar sentiment in the United States.

In the ground war, a communique from the U.S. Command said "light and scattered ground contacts continued to characterize activity involving U.S. forces in Vietnam."

A spokesman said reports from the field indicated no U.S. troops were killed Thursday as a result of enemy action, the first time there have been no American battlefield deaths since June 28.

The command reported 23 enemy rocket and mortar attacks and said two Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese forces clashed twice with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in the Parrot's Beak section of Cambodia about 50 miles west of Saigon. South Vietnamese headquarters said 25 of the enemy were killed, while South Vietnamese losses were two killed and five wounded.

Sinatra Endorses Ex-Governor's Son
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra, a veteran Democratic fund-raiser, stunned Californians earlier this year with an endorsement of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, who seeks re-election.

But for secretary of state, he said Thursday, he will support Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr.—son of former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the man defeated for re-election in 1966 by Reagan.

Pesticide Bans Said Having Little Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's flurry of action against pesticides has failed to reduce significantly the amount of chemicals polluting the environment, and the bans it has ordered aren't likely to be effective for at least a year.

The Agriculture Department, over the past 10 months, has announced cancellation or suspension of a number of the registered uses for DDT and two of its close chemical relatives—pesticides containing one form of the poisonous metal mercury, and the herbicide 2,4,5-T, which has been shown to cause birth defects in animals.

The actions, however, left intact registered uses that account for 75 per cent of domestic applications of DDT and 2,4,5-T. And government officials concede that because of legal loopholes and possibly lengthy appeals by manufacturers some retail sales of the pesticides for uses officially banned will continue until at least next year and perhaps for two to three years.

Nevertheless, government health officials say the Agriculture Department has demonstrated a new and unaccustomed willingness to act against pesticides that appear to threaten the environment.

Furthermore, the Nixon administration appears to be fulfilling its pledge to implement recommendations made last December by the blue-ribbon Mrak commission appointed by the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to examine the problem of pesticides.

A start has been made on the commission's No. 1 recommendation that all DDT uses except those "essential to the preservation of human health and welfare" end by 1972.

And both HEW and the Interior Department have, because of the commission's recommendation, gained an equal voice with the Agriculture Department in deciding pesticide safety.

Still, the government has started action against only 5 of the 19 pesticides the commission listed as posing a "potential health hazard to man" because of laboratory links to cancer or birth defects in animals. The commission recommended "prudent steps to minimize human exposure" to the 19 but set no time limit.

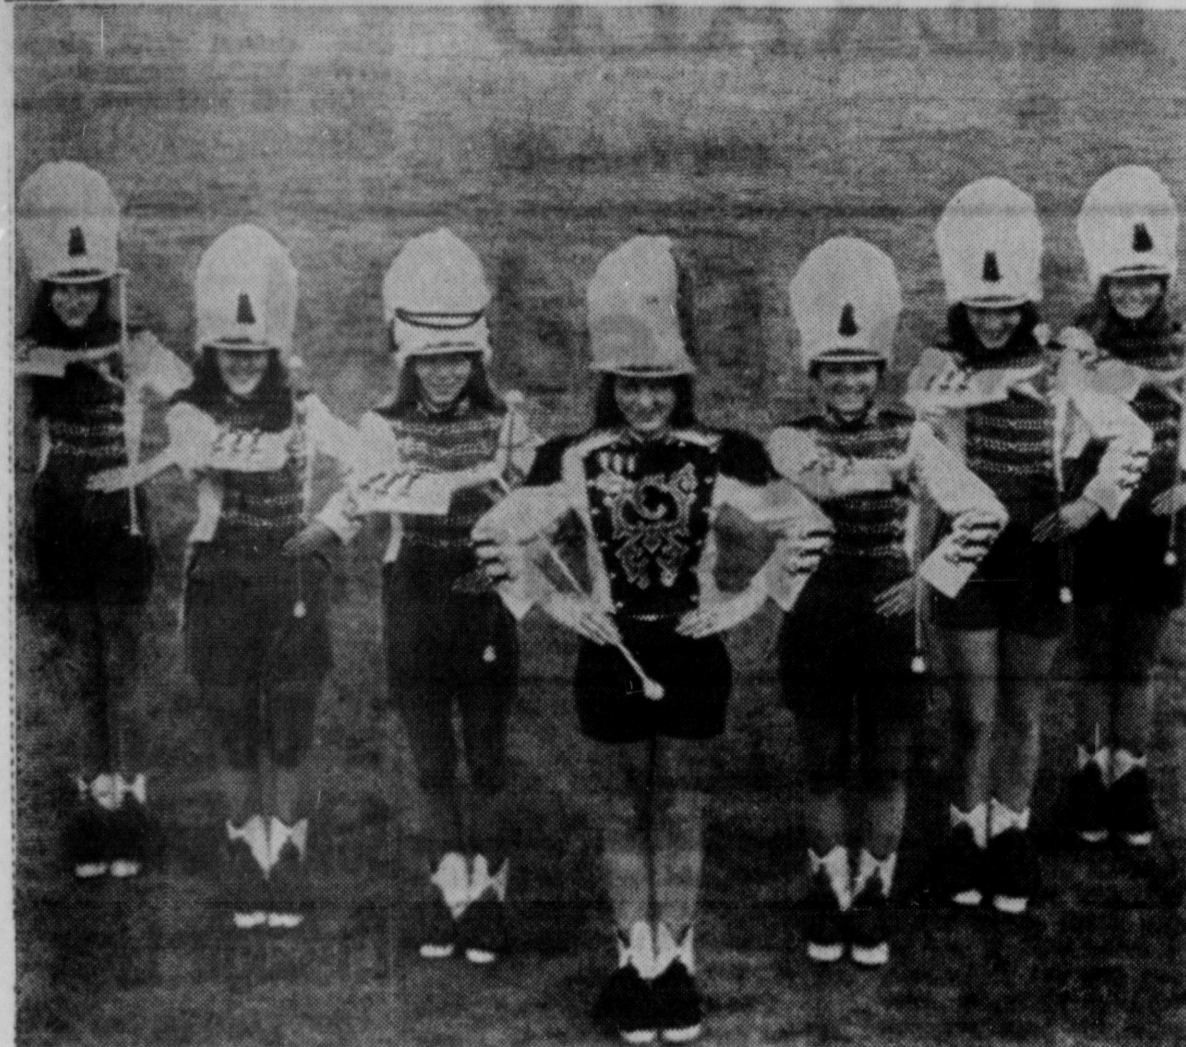

The five pesticides affected by restriction so far are DDT and the related aldrin and dieldrin,

2,4,5-T, and mercury-based compounds.

The remaining 14 are amitrol, amite, avadex, bis 2-chloroethyl ether, chlorbenzilate, heptachlor, mirex 2-hydroxy-ethyl hydrazine, strobane, captan, carbaryl, 2,4-D, folpet, and PCNB.

The government has begun usage reviews of two of these 14—heptachlor and strobane. Reviews are the first step toward possible restrictions.

But even the restrictions announced so far have barely dented the rapidly growing pesticide market.

DRUM MAJORETTES — These are the drum majorettes of the 1970 edition of the Circleville High School marching band. Football and band fans will get a chance to see them in action 8 p.m. tonight during the annual Band Preview. He is a member of ASME and IAA professional societies and is active in Big Brothers of America.

Seven Teenagers Outstanding 4-Hers At Fair

Seven teenagers named Outstanding 4-Hers of the Day at the Ohio State Fair are Pickaway County residents.

Competing in homemaking competition, six young ladies were among the top entrants at the fair. Laurie May ranked high in Quick Meals judging and Vicki Fraunfelder placed in Breads.

Two other teens earned awards in homemaking for Food Preservation and Tasty Meals. The winners were Becky Shannon and September Young respectively.

Other honors went to seamstresses Cynthia Palm, School Dress division and to Ann Myers, Loungewear. Sherry Bilcock was another Outstanding 4-Her competing in horse competition.

Cambodia . . .

many Vietnamese living in Cambodia during the early days of the war.

The government officially denies that the Khmer Rouge the Cambodian followers of Prince Sihanouk, pose any problem. But field commanders again tell a different story.

Communist sources say 8 per cent of the Communist forces in Cambodia.

American bombing in Cambodia has proved a mixed blessing. Massive attacks against Communist supply lines leading to Vietnam through Cambodia are now routine, and damage sometimes inevitably extends to civilian areas. Tactical strikes around Siem Reap are reported to have been one of the best recruiting points for the Communists, who claim that the Americans are out to conquer Cambodia and are destroying villages with their planes.

Nevertheless, experts comparing the war with the one in Vietnam say the Communists in Cambodia are fighting at little more than half speed.

"The Communists have had Kompong Thom surrounded for 'three months,'" one Western expert said. "They could have taken it, but they haven't. One of the unwholesome side effects is that the government is getting cocky when it should be getting more frightened when it looks at the situation map."

"The way they have set up the defenses of Phnom Penh shows they haven't learned the lessons of Vietnam or figured out the logical consequences of Hanoi's brand of mobile warfare. If the Communists wanted, they could put a regiment in the royal palace on the night of their choosing if they were willing to accept the casualties."

One Western diplomat commented: "That the Communists have not done more, a lot more, in Cambodia seems due either to a political decision in Hanoi or a reluctance to suffer battlefield casualties which could better be spent in Vietnam. Or maybe they just aren't ready yet."

Chiropractic Claims No Cure

No doctor in any health profession has the right to claim to "cure" any disease. No doctor can make such a claim honestly. Only Nature can cure. The doctor of chiropractic assists Nature to cure by restoring the flow and function of Life Energy through the nerve system into malfunctioning, sick, and diseased body tissues. The effectiveness of chiropractic is unlimited in a wide range of human ills, because chiropractic concerns itself with the cause and with the whole body, rather than the disease, or symptoms only.

The chiropractic profession recommends regular chiropractic check-ups.

Halleck Appeal Is Dismissed

A man accused in the murder of an Ironton police officer did not receive a reversal of his conviction in his appeal to the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Carl Halleck, indicted and tried in Lawrence County for the slaying of an Ironton policeman in an escape attempt from the county prison, appealed a judgment handed down by a Pickaway County jury when his case was transferred here in November, 1966.

Halleck was one of three men in the escape plot, all charged with aiding and abetting in the death of the officer. A jury seated to consider his case could not come to a decision so his case was transferred here.

In his plea, Halleck claimed the evidence entered against him in the trial was insufficient to prove his guilt, that the police officer was on property of the county sheriff and did not have any jurisdiction.

BOTH counts were overruled by the court, after reviewing testimony of witnesses and noting that the policeman was asked by the sheriff to offer help against the jailbreak and was in authority.

The convicted slayer also asked that a statement be made to his parole officer during a visit to the jail was privileged conversation and should not have been included in the testimony.

The appeals judges ruled that this conversation was not privileged but voluntary on his part.

Halleck's attorney asked that the conviction be dismissed on the grounds that all three men were charged with aiding in the killing and none claimed to be the actual slayer. The judges advised that this was a proper method and that the actual gunman need not be proven.

Halleck was convicted of first degree murder with a request for mercy by a January 1968 petit jury in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Two Injured In Separate Road Mishaps

Two people were injured in separate accidents in Pickaway County Friday morning.

David R. Henson, 17, Route 3, suffered abrasions of the chin when he lost control of his car at 7:15 a.m. on the Circleville - Florence Chapel Road and struck a utility pole.

He was referred to the doctor by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Charles Dolby.

Ethel M. Starkey, 68, Kingston was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment of her arm and shoulder injured in a two-car accident at 10 a.m. on Route 56, west of Route 159.

She struck the rear of an auto driven by Willard H. Hosler, 53, 245 Sunset Drive, who had stopped to make his mail delivery.

She told Deputy Bob Hoover she did not see the mail car due to a curve and high weeds.

Rain Causes Wreck Near Bloomfield

Heavy rains preceding the tornado-like winds that tore a narrow swath through the county north of Circleville were listed as a factor in a two-car collision on Route 23 Thursday evening.

A 56-year-old Columbus woman had pulled her late model foreign compact car off the roadway near Route 762 because of poor visibility through the storm. Route 3, who was following the car of Mrs. Ina D. Bates, 56, noticed her lights and slowed down. He lost control on the rain-slick highway and slid off to the right, striking the left rear portion of the Bates car.

Damage reported to both cars was moderate. Neither driver was injured and no citations were issued by investigating Highway Patrolmen.

Earlier Thursday at 6 a.m. the Patrol investigated an injury accident on Interstate 71, just north of Route 56 in Pickaway County.

Jerry K. Neidenthal, 21, of Columbus, had pulled out to pass a truck operated by Alice H. Hinkle, 23, of Elliott, Maryland and cut back too quickly, pulling into the left rear of the truck.

Neidenthal's auto, owned by the Sohio Refining Co. suffered $2,700 damage and he was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for emergency treatment of minor injuries. The truck driver complained of injuries but did not receive treatment. Damage to her vehicle was $200.

Neidenthal was cited by the Patrol.

Some 1,300 pesticidal chemicals are blended in 45,000 formulations. Sales are estimated to increase 15 per cent a year, reaching $3 billion in 1974.

The DDT actions have left untouched the two crops where 75 per cent of the chemical is used — cotton and citrus fruit. The reason: Government officials are unsure what substitute pesticide to recommend that would be less hazardous.

One manufacturer is continuing his legal challenge to the first set of DDT restrictions announced last November. Other challenges are expected to last week's actions barring DDT from use on livestock, lumber, trees and more than 50 crops.

In April the department banned 2,4,5-T for home use and requested recall from hardware shelves of containers labeled for that purpose.

A spokesman now concedes "he recall 'has not been totally effective' and perhaps millions of 2,4,5-T spray cans are still being sold. The department has no police power on the retail level.

Moreover, the main use of 2,4,5-T for brush control is still permitted.

The series of actions against mercurial pesticides started with the government's strong call for removal of the compounds from all channels of trade. Yet the compounds still are being applied to seed and crops.

The reason: The Agriculture Department dropped its demand for recall after manufacturers argued it would be safer to use existing stocks than try to destroy them.

Cambodia . . .

many Vietnamese living in Cambodia during the early days of the war.

The government officially denies that the Khmer Rouge the Cambodian followers of Prince Sihanouk, pose any problem. But field commanders again tell a different story.

Communist sources say 8 per cent of the Communist forces in Cambodia.

American bombing in Cambodia has proved a mixed blessing. Massive attacks against Communist supply lines leading to Vietnam through Cambodia are now routine, and damage sometimes inevitably extends to civilian areas. Tactical strikes around Siem Reap are reported to have been one of the best recruiting points for the Communists, who claim that the Americans are out to conquer Cambodia and are destroying villages with their planes.

Nevertheless, experts comparing the war with the one in Vietnam say the Communists in Cambodia are fighting at little more than half speed.

"The Communists have had Kompong Thom surrounded for three months," one Western expert said. "They could have taken it, but they haven't. One of the unwholesome side effects is that the government is getting cocky when it should be getting more frightened when it looks at the situation map."

"The way they have set up the defenses of Phnom Penh shows they haven't learned the lessons of Vietnam or figured out the logical consequences of Hanoi's brand of mobile warfare. If the Communists wanted, they could put a regiment in the royal palace on the night of their choosing if they were willing to accept the casualties."

One Western diplomat commented: "That the Communists have not done more, a lot more, in Cambodia seems due either to a political decision in Hanoi or a reluctance to suffer battlefield casualties which could better be spent in Vietnam. Or maybe they just aren't ready yet."

Chiropractic Claims No Cure

No doctor in any health profession has the right to claim to "cure" any disease. No doctor can make such a claim honestly. Only Nature can cure. The doctor of chiropractic assists Nature to cure by restoring the flow and function of Life Energy through the nerve system into malfunctioning, sick, and diseased body tissues. The effectiveness of chiropractic is unlimited in a wide range of human ills, because chiropractic concerns itself with the cause and with the whole body, rather than the disease, or symptoms only.

The chiropractic profession recommends regular chiropractic check-ups.

Halleck Appeal Is Dismissed

A man accused in the murder of an Ironton police officer did not receive a reversal of his conviction in his appeal to the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Carl Halleck, indicted and tried in Lawrence County for the slaying of an Ironton policeman in an escape attempt from the county prison, appealed a judgment handed down by a Pickaway County jury when his case was transferred here in November, 1966.

Halleck was one of three men in the escape plot, all charged with aiding and abetting in the death of the officer. A jury seated to consider his case could not come to a decision so his case was transferred here.

In his plea, Halleck claimed the evidence entered against him in the trial was insufficient to prove his guilt, that the police officer was on property of the county sheriff and did not have any jurisdiction.

BOTH counts were overruled by the court, after reviewing testimony of witnesses and noting that the policeman was asked by the sheriff to offer help against the jailbreak and was in authority.

The convicted slayer also asked that a statement he made to his parole officer during a visit to the jail was privileged conversation and should not have been included in the testimony.

The appeals judges ruled that this conversation was not privileged but voluntary on his part.

Halleck's attorney's asked on the grounds that all three men were charged with aiding in the killing and none claimed to be the actual slayer. The judges advised that this was a proper method and that the actual gunman need not be proven.

Halleck was convicted of first degree murder with a request for mercy by a January 1968 petit jury in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Two Injured In Separate Road Mishaps

Two people were injured in separate accidents in Pickaway County Friday morning.

David R. Henson, 17, Route 3, suffered abrasions of the chin when he lost control of his car at 7:15 a.m. on the Circleville - Florence Chapel Road and struck a utility pole.

He was referred to the doctor by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Charles Dolby.

Ethel M. Starkey, 68, Kingston was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment of her arm and shoulder injured in a two-car accident at 10 a.m. on Route 56, west of Route 159.

She struck the rear of an auto driven by Willard H. Hosler, 53, 245 Sunset Drive, who had stopped to make his mail delivery.

She told Deputy Bob Hoover she did not see the mail car due to a curve and high weeds.

Seminarians Shake Up Roman Catholic Routines

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Yesterday's Gone," one of their songs puts it. And they're shaking up Roman Catholic routines to show forth a new day in serving the faith.

"We think religion is life," says Brother Pat Coyne, 23, one of the 11 seminarians in the Midwestern enterprise. "And we're trying to help return it to the people."

Their effort includes an odd combination of ingredients:

Rain Dampens Ohio Expo-70; Crowd Smaller

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The rains came to the Ohio State Fair Thursday and so did the crowds, but for the first time since opening day attendance fell short of record numbers.

Fair officials reported 140,020 persons passed through the gates Thursday, 24,000 fewer than the same day one year ago.

Total attendance, however, is still running ahead of past years with a count of 1,460,730 to date.

The weather bureau reports showers are expected to continue off and on through Saturday.

Highlighting today's events at the 117th annual state exposition will be the beginning of a two-day international tractor-pulling contest, the wind-up of a three-day appearance by country-western singer Johnny Cash, boxing between teams from Great Britain and the United States and the opening of a National Space and Aeronautics Administration display of the Apollo 11 moonship.

exploring the faith, from the center to its far edges.

Instead of offering set answers, it poses the basic questions and then presents varying responses, citing both "yes" and "no" factors involved as seen from the "new and old perspectives" in the church.

"One question may have 40 answers—40 truthful answers," says Brother Pat, from New York. "The true dynamics of belief involves thinking through questions, and we're trying to stir up people to think about the different dimensions of faith."

The volume was turned out by the Rev. Patrick Berkery, a seasoned theologian and educator, and two members of the unusual community of which he is adviser-director. The co-authors are Brothers John O'Reilly, 25, Boston, and Joseph Valentine, 25, New York.

They concede that some people may consider it a "dangerous book" for explaining the wide diversity in current Church thought, but they insist it "presents no threat but truth."

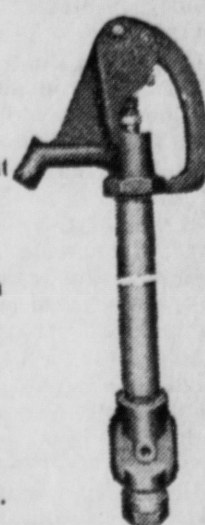

It attempts to "fill a leadership void," they write. "The average layman has been kept in the dark too long about things that pertain to his life and values."

Seminarians Shake Up Roman Catholic Routines

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Yesterday's Gone," one of their songs puts it. And they're shaking up Roman Catholic routines to show forth a new day in serving the faith.

"We think religion is life," says Brother Pat Coyne, 23, one of the 11 seminarians in the Midwestern enterprise. "And we're trying to help return it to the people."

Their effort includes an odd combination of ingredients:

slum living, theological probing, befriending poor families and vagrants, publications and singing folk rock.

"It's a matter both of doing it and communicating it," says Brother Pat.

He's a lead vocalist of the widely heard folk rock group, the "Mission Singers," which is only one phase of a diversified, innovative, sometimes controversial, yet small and down-to-earth Christian venture.

It's called the Contemporary Mission, which operates out of a two-story tenement in a poverty section of St. Louis, Mo., where the group studies, works with the poor and turns out its unusual flow of teaching materials.

The latest, "A New Catholic Catechism," published by Stein and Day, is one of the most unconventional approaches yet in

According To Boyle

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember the time your sixth grade math teacher turned to ask you a question just as you were aiming a paper airplane at her?

We all have stories about our school years, about the time we painted founder's statue blue at old P. S. 32 or the absentminded history professor we had at State U.

I have two I'm fond of.

The first involves a math teacher I had while a junior in high school. A methodical man who had taught trigonometry for 25 years, old Harry Burble, let's call him, was set in his ways. A down-Mainer he always preferred illustrating new material on the board more than giving lectures. Mr. Burble had a habit of making a low, rumbling sound before each of his infrequent bursts of speech.

"Bub-bub-bub," he would start. "Do Exercise 43 on Page 62 for tonight's homework."

And Harry Burble had rules. You didn't violate those rules because there was something about Harry Burble's reticence that inspired fear. One of the Burble cardinal rules was you showed how you arrived at answers on examination papers.

One day Burble handed back some examination papers and when Tyrone Tinker, a notorious cheater who somehow never got caught, saw his paper he let out a groan. Problem no. 2 was marked wrong, but Tyrone had the right answer.

"Mr. Burble," he cried, his hand waving vigorously in the air.

"Bub-bub-bub, yes, Tinker," Burble replied.

"I got the right answer and you marked me wrong," said Tinker, now standing and pointing to the large, black "X" on his paper.

"Bub-bub-bub," intoned Burble. "You don't show me how you got the answer. No credit."

"But Mr. Burble," whined Tinker, "I did it in my head."

"Bub-bub-bub," said Burble disdainfully. "Next time you do it in your head, write your name on your head, pass it in and I'll mark it."

The second story involves a political science professor I had in college. This guy, a brilliant lecturer, had trouble with his memory. Occasionally he would forget where the door was and try to leave class via the closet.

A sampling of one of his famous class announcements, which I remember word-for-word today, will suffice:

"Class, I want you to pick up a book at the library and read it for background this semester," he began.

"The name of the book is 'Modern and Foreign Powers.'"

There was a pause and he ran his hand across his forehead.

"Wait a minute," he continued. "I got that wrong. The book is 'Powers, Foreign and Modern.' Hmmm. Or is it 'Modern Foreign Powers?'"

"Oh well, if you can't find it under any of those titles, you'll find it under the author's name: William Charles."

"Or is it, Charles William?"

The Business World

By JIM BRIGANCE (For John Cunniff)

MADISONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — For decades he has been loved by children, lionized by historians and exploited by Hollywood. But the American cowboy today finds himself misunderstood by, of all people, the American housewife.

The showdown these two face won't be in the muddy streets of a Coffeyville, Laredo or Cheyenne but in supermarket aisles all over America.

"On the average, I sell that calf for $34.25 per 100 pounds or a total of $157.55. That leaves me an average 93 cents profit," he said.

Samuel figures it costs him $20 for feed for each calf, $15 for labor, $2.50 for gas, oil and grease for ranch machinery, $5 for fertilizer or the grass each calf consumes, $1.25 for weed spray, $4 for repairs to the equipment, $15 in depreciation on the bulls and cows, $30 for pasture lease, $18 in interest and the list goes on.

Samuel says the ranch has never lost money but the balancing act is precarious.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

Having had the opportunity of going to Washington D. C. to participate in the Citizenship Short Course would like to share my week experiences with the entire county.

The Citizenship Short Course helped me to develop a greater understanding and appreciation of our American heritage, learn the basic functions of our national government, affirm my commitment to the democratic way of life and I developed practical attitudes for practicing and teaching citizenship in day-to-day living.

The sights I saw while in Washington D. C. were: the Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington Cathedral, Embassy Row, Capitol Hill, Smithsonian Institute, Ford Theatre, where Lincoln was shot, Center of Science and Technology, Georgetown, Iwo Jima Statue, Arlington National Cemetery, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Jefferson Memorial, Library of Congress, Wax Museum, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Federal Bureau of Investigation, National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, and a boat trip down the Potomac River to Mt. Vernon.

There were four other states who participated in the Short Course besides Ohio. They were: New York, South Dakota, Vermont and Wisconsin. There were 18 counties from Ohio represented, and these were 40 students and four leaders who participated.

We discussed many problems of the world today: Vietnam, Family Planning, Abortions, Population Explosion and many others. We discussed each others 4-H projects, and fairs and I found that 4-H is different in all counties.

I would like to thank the Circleville BPO Elks who were my sponsors and made my trip possible.

I also would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. George Hamrick, Charlie Andrews and Marsha Mills, who were group leaders, for making my week a pleasant one.

Dear Editor:

I want to take the time to say thanks to the Easter Seal Society. They gave me the chance to go to Camp Pittenger in McCutchenville. My heart went out to the handicapped.

True, I'm handicapped but I saw others in worse shape than I. I was ashamed of myself for thinking just of myself. I counted it an honor to help out when I could. That made the week for me.

I felt like I was needed. Life isn't vain when we can help others. I want to thank all the staff and counselors for a good time and also giving their time the way they did. I wish to thank Mrs. Kirkwood for her involvement and the Red Cross. They did a great job. The word of God states, "In Everything, Give Thanks." My thanks to all concerned.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A DISCONSOLATE golfer threw his bag down in the caddy house and grumbled, "I've just had a horrible round of handicap golf." "What was your handicap?" asked a new caddy master. The golfer sighed, "I lost my eraser."

Near the end of the 1968 campaign, the late Senator Ed Dirksen hailed a taxi outside the Waldorf Hotel and asked to be driven to NBC headquarters in Rockefeller Plaza.

"I can't take you, Mister," the driver told him. "Senator Dirksen's scheduled to speak in thirty minutes and I want to get back to the garage to catch him. That guy sends me."

Dirksen was so pleased he pressed a five-dollar bill into the driver's hand. The latter examined it and reached a quick decision. "If it means this much to you, Mister," he exclaimed, "climb in and to heck with Senator Dirksen!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My grandchild is five years old and has grown to four feet one inch, with hands and feet the size of an adult. I have been reading about hormone glands and wonder if her condition could be due to acromegaly.

We don't know what doctor to go to.

Mrs. E. B. Rhode Island Dear Mrs. B.: Nowhere in your letter did you indicate that you have been seeing any doctor about this problem.

The very first one you must consult is, of course, your family physician. It must be remembered that the family physician is still the strongest support for all medical and emotional problems.

He is the clearing house that distributes difficult problems to specialists he carefully chooses.

A hormone secreted by the pituitary gland in the brain is known as the "growth hormone."

Acromegaly and gigantism can be caused by the overproduction of this hormone, particularly from the anterior part of the pituitary gland.

The correct diagnosis can be made for your grandchild's condition by X-rays of the bones and by specialized blood studies.

In many instances, the exact cause of such unusual growth can be found. X-ray treatment, surgery, hormones and drugs can be effectively used to control abnormal growth.

Can an ectopic pregnancy have resulted from too much physical activity during the first few weeks of pregnancy?

Mrs. N. W., N.J.

Dear Mrs. W.: An ectopic, or tubal, pregnancy is one that takes place in the fallopian tube rather than in the uterus, or womb.

The fallopian tube is a passageway through which the female egg, or ovum, normally passes from the ovary into the womb.

In most instances, the ovum is fertilized by the male sperm in the womb, where it then implants itself and grows, on the inner wall.

In an ectopic pregnancy, the fertilized egg attaches itself to the narrow wall of the fallopian tube and starts to grow in this confined place.

It is for this reason that ectopic pregnancies, when unrecognized, rupture through the tube and cause distressing symptoms.

You should have no feeling of guilt that any activity may

Pollution Everywhere

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

NAPLES — Like my globe-trotting editor, Louis Messolonghies, I am an incurable rubberneck. So, with a weekend to spare, it was the tourist bit for me around the crater of Vesuvius and on the Isle of Capri.

Capri, which pushes its crocodile-head profile out of the sea at the entrance to the Bay of Naples, is a mixed bag, with thousands of tourists come to watch other tourists. The dress styles combine hobble skirt effects with bare midriffs, and wild, man, wild. But the island's incredible beauty is there and the approach trip — in a speeding hydrofoil — is glorious. So is the dinner with one of the island's good restaurants. But alas! The proprietor of the restaurant, an old friend of my friend, warns us against his own salads. "Pollution," he says. "The lettuce is not safe." Capri itself has no wells or springs; all its water comes from the mainland in tanks. The water, whether from ancient tanks or from the origin, is not to be trusted, nor are the raw vegetables that are washed in it to be eaten with any safety.

But how about the shellfish? The oysters, the mussels, the other "fruits de mer" that must abound in the Bay of Naples? Alas! Again, you are warned about pollution. There's the hepatitis about, and the gruesome stories of local cases somewhat dampen a meal on an excellent (and quite clean) deep sea fish washed down with good wine and perfectly safe mineral water.

It's not just Naples that has to endure the pollution scare. In Rome we are warned not to swim at the Ostia beaches, which necessarily absorb the bacterial content of the River Tiber. Kingsbury Smith, the chief European correspondent of the Hearst papers with offices in Rome, tells of going more than two-and-one-half hours to the coast for a beach vacation. If he had gone all the way to the Ligurian coast in the north he would have had to listen to pollution warnings from the Mayor of Genoa.

One has always been wary of drinking tap water in the south of Europe, but the extreme sensitivity hereabouts to the pollution problem is something new. At the moment there is the cholera scare — cases that have broken out in Libya, Egypt and Israel are played up in the papers, with demands that sailors coming in from Middle Eastern ports be vaccinated. The 869,985 automobiles registered in Rome are the subject of lectures on carbon monoxide poisoning, not to mention noise, pollution, though in August, when the Romans are out of town, there is an abatement of the ordinarily horrendous traffic problem. Then there is the body-pollution that afflicts the young in Rome as elsewhere in the world; arrests for the possession, sale and use of hashish in the Villa Borghese gardens are a current scandal. The drug culture grows despite the terrifying laws against it (some American servicemen have recently received thirteen-year-prison sentences for drug possession).

It's not just Italy, of course, that suffers from the new ills that suddenly put on seven-league boots in that most degrading of all our recent decades, the Sixties. Coming through to Italy from France, one has read about the pollution of the River Maine, where swimming and fishing have been banned and the use of the river water for gardening has been prohibited by the health authorities of the city of Angers.

And, in the Paris International Herald Tribune, there is a feature story from the U.S. about 35,555 Vermonters being warned to "boil the water you drink until a state chemist can be brought in to monitor the system." This from one of the cleanest American states. As they said in Rome, "Et tu, Brute."

Maybe the world has always been polluted; maybe it is only our consciousness of the problem that has changed in magnitude. In the Middle Ages they had the Black Death, and enteritis — "Montezuma's revenge" in Mexico — has been an ancient traveler's story. But whether things have actually grown worse or not, something must be done about cleaning up the planet. It was intolerable when Hitler was in the headlines, and now it's intolerable when Hitler has been replaced by dirt.

Landmark

By GENE HANDSAKER

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A landmark has had its face lifted, to the delight of hill dwellers and especially Albert Kothe.

The landmark is a block-long mountain sign, "HOLLYWOOD," sprawling proudly in 50-foot galvanized-iron letters above the film capital and seen for many years by countless tourists.

Weathered and dilapidated, it has just been repaired and repainted through concerned citizens, efforts at a cost of $4,500. Kothe, 77, is a German immigrant who lived in a shack behind the first "H" during the sign's first eight years, when its letters were outlined in light bulbs, like make-up mirrors.

In those days the sign read "HOLLYWOODLAND," the subdivision of the real estate company that built the sign and employed Kothe to replace its burned-out bulbs.

Every month or so he'd stuff his shirt with 20-watt bulbs, make the perilous climb by iron-pipe crossbars and replace the 30 to 50 of the signs' 4,000 globes that had gone dark.

"Never got hurt," says Kothe pronounced Ko-teh, who's bald, with a bulldog build and still heavy accent.

Among his memories are Mack Sennett filming a bevy of bathing beauties near the sign and lovers' cars cluttering and littering the landscape by night.

"Finally had to build a gate across the road," says Kothe. Airline pilots, he says, used the sign as a guidepost in heading for the Burbank airport. They protested talk of removing the marker after the subdivision was sold and the sign became dilapidated.

Someone, he says, stole all 4,000 no longer used bulbs. Wind blew down the "H" so that the sign read "OLLYWOODLAND." Several years later, in 1949, the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce came to the rescue, restored the "H" and lopped off the "LAND," creating the film town landmark.

The late Fletcher Bowron, then Los Angeles mayor, puffed up a mountain trail and broke ground for the "H" with a pick ax.

Wind and weather eroded the signs' paint and destroyed parts of its sheet-metal letters again in recent years. Kiwanians, Rotarians and chamber leaders raised $4,500 for renovation.

The city chopped down encroaching brush and trees. Bridge painters slapped their last white brushfuls on the sign a few days ago.

Kothe says, "It looks nice. Everybody up here is glad."

35 YEARS AGO

Two and one-half inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period Sept. 2. Continuing rains caused streams and rivers to rise so rapidly, 45 sheep belonging to County Auditor Forrest Short were drowned in the waters of Yellowbud Creek.

Circleville Chamber of Commerce relocated offices from the Masonic temple to the second floor of the building occupied by G. C. Murphy Co. Red Cross also planned to maintain an office in the new room.

A school time value at Penney's was boys' lined knickers — with knitted cuffs — for 98 cents.

County commissioners were informed through the federal relief director that after Sept. 15, the county would be expected to take over the relief program, using its own funds and directing relief as it sees fit.

Several local projects to be filed under WPA allotments were an $82,000 addition to Circleville High School, an extensive sanitary and storm sewer project and the removal of car tracks from Court St. in the city, and an addition to the county court house.

The Herald offered boys and girls an opportunity to turn their bicycles, clothing, roller skates, guns, games, books, footballs, shoes, toys, etc. into ready cash before school started through Want Ads. Any boy or girl 16 years of age or less could insert an ad to sell, swap or trade for five cents per week, the ad to run seven consecutive days or until canceled.

Miss Virginia Cady appeared in police court charged with speeding. Court judge was her father, Mayor W. B. Cady. She was fined $5 and costs. The costs were suspended.

Circleville High School was crowded to the doors with 393 pupils enrolled. Total enrollment for the city's public schools was 1,629, an increase of 14.

New Holland celebrated its centennial.

Price for cutting corn averaged from 12 to 15 cents a shock on a 14-hill square.

City Fire Chief Talmer Wise became the owner of a 1902 Mercer which he planned to use in the Pumpkin Show parades. The tiny car had two single seats and was powered by a two cylinder air cooled motor.

Active civic leader, Republican "Friend of Presidents" Charles E. Groce, died at his home, 219 S. Court St. at the age of 84. He was the son of city pioneers Mr. and Mrs. John Groce.

The second story involves a political science professor I had in college. This guy, a brilliant lecturer, had trouble with his memory. Occasionally he would forget where the door was and try to leave class via the closet.

A sampling of one his famous class announcements, which I remember word-for-word today, will suffice:

"Class, I want you to pick up a book at the library and read it for background this semester," he began.

"The name of the book is 'Modern and Foreign Powers.'"

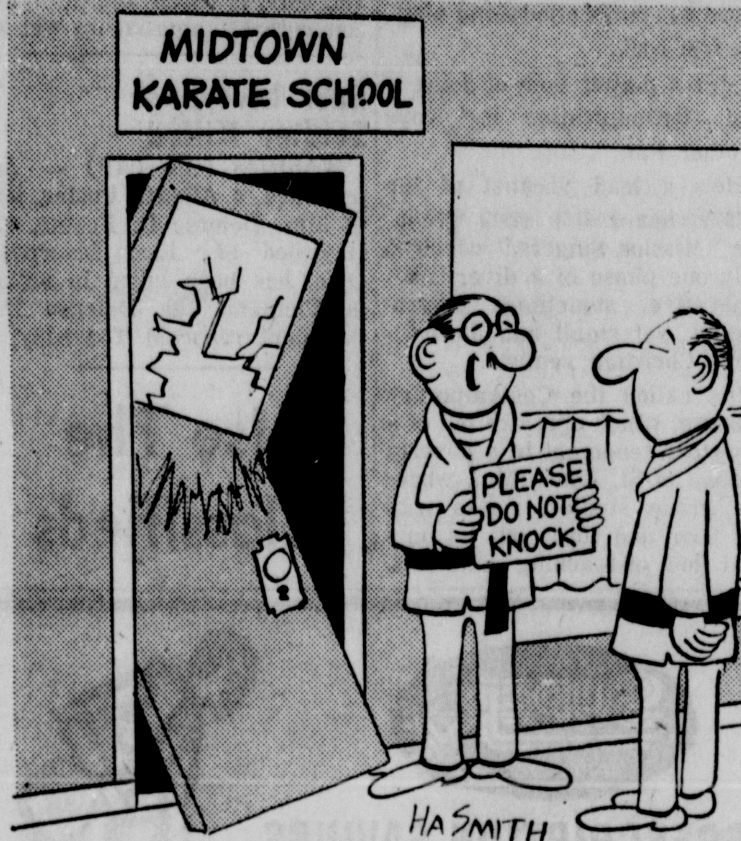

"There was a pause and he ran his hand across his forehead."

"Wait a minute," he continued. "I got that wrong. The book is 'Powers, Foreign and Modern.' Hmmm. Or is it 'Modern Foreign Powers?'"

"Oh well, if you can't find it under any of those titles, you'll find it under the author's name: William Charles."

"Or is it, Charles William?"

A DISCONSOLATE golfer threw his bag down in the round of handicap golf. "I've just had a horrible round of handicap golf," "What was your handicap?" asked a new caddy master. The golfer sighed, "I lost my eraser."

Near the end of the 1968 campaign, the late Senator Ev Dirksen halled a taxi outside the Waldorf Hotel and asked to be driven to NBC headquarters in Rockefeller Plaza.

"I can't take you, Mister," the driver told him. "Senator Dirksen's scheduled to speak in thirty minutes and I want to get back to the garage to catch him. That guy sends me."

Dirksen was so pleased he pressed a five-dollar bill into the driver's hand. The latter examined it and reached a quick decision. "If it means this much to you, Mister," he exclaimed, "climb in and to heck with Senator Dirksen!"

Most soul-satisfying eavesdropping of the week was done by Caskie Stinnett at a midtown boite. A smug, opinionated undergrader was berating his father for the mistakes and faults of the latter's generation. "Young people today," he asserted, "have better ideals and better everything than the preceding generation." The father took it all in stride, then added quietly, "Especially better parents."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My grandchild is five years old and has grown to four feet one inch, with hands and feet the size of an adult. I have been reading about hormone glands and wonder if her condition could be due to acromegaly.

We don't know what doctor to go to.

Mrs. E. B., Rhode Island Dear Mrs. B.: Nowhere in your letter did you indicate that you have been seeing any doctor about this problem.

The very first one you must consult is, of course, your family physician. It must be remembered that the family physician is still the strongest support for all medical and emotional problems.

He is the clearing house that distributes difficult problems to specialists he carefully chooses.

A hormone secreted by the pituitary gland in the brain is known as the "growth hormone."

Acromegaly and gigantism can be caused by the overproduction of this hormone, particularly from the anterior part of the pituitary gland.

The correct diagnosis can be made for your grandchild's condition by X-rays of the bones and by specialized blood studies.

In many instances, the exact cause of such unusual growth can be found. X-ray treatment, surgery, hormones and drugs can be effectively used to control abnormal growth.

Can an ectopic pregnancy have resulted from too much physical activity during the first few weeks of pregnancy?

Mrs. N. W., N.J. Dear Mrs. W.: An ectopic, or tubal, pregnancy is one that takes place in the fallopian tube rather than in the uterus, cr womb.

The fallopian tube is a passageway through which the female egg, or ovum, normally passes from the ovary into the womb.

In most instances, the ovum is fertilized by the male sperm in the womb, where it then implants itself and grows, on the inner wall.

In an ectopic pregnancy, the fertilized egg attaches itself to the narrow wall of the fallopian tube and starts to grow in this confined place.

It is for this reason that ectopic pregnancies, when unrecognized, rupture through the tube and cause distressing symptoms.

You should have no feeling of guilt that any activity may

NAPLES — Like my globe-trotting editor, Louis Messolonghies, I am an incurable rubberneck. So, with a weekend to spare, it was the tourist bit for me around the crater of Vesuvius and on the Isle of Capri.

Capri, which pushes its crocodile-head profile out of the sea at the entrance to the Bay of Naples, is a mixed bag, with thousands of tourists come to watch other tourists. The dress styles combine hobble skirt effects with bare midriffs, and wild, man, wild. But the island's incredible beauty is there and the approach trip — in a speeding hydrofoil — is glorious.

So is the dinner with an Italian-American friend in one of the island's good restaurants. But alas! The proprietor of the restaurant, an old friend of my friend, warns us against his own salads.

"Pollution," he says. "The lettuce is not safe." Capri itself has no wells or springs; all its water comes from the mainland in tanks. The water, whether from unclean tanks or unclean origin, is not to be trusted, nor are the raw vegetables that are washed in it to be eaten with any safety.

But how about the shellfish? The oysters, the mussels, the other "fruits de mer" that must abound in the Bay of Naples? Alas! Again, you are warned about pollution. There's hepatitis about, and the gruesome stories of local cases somewhat dampen a meal on an excellent (and quite clean) deep sea fish washed down with good wine and perfectly safe mineral water.

It's not just Naples that has to endure the pollution scare. In Rome we are warned not to swim at the Ostia beaches, which necessarily absorb the bacterial content of the River Tiber. Kingsbury Smith, the chief European correspondent of the Hearst papers with offices in Rome, tells of going more than two-and-one-half hours up the coast for a beach vacation.

If he had gone all the way to the Ligurian coast in the north he would have had to listen to pollution warnings from the Mayor of Genoa.

One has always been wary of drinking tap water in the south of Europe, but the extreme sensitivity hereabouts to the pollution problem is something new. At the moment there is the cholera scare — cases that have broken out in Libya, Egypt and Israel are played up in the papers, with demands that sailors coming in from Middle Eastern ports be vaccinated.

The 899,985 automobiles registered in Rome are the subject of lectures on carbon monoxide poisoning, not to mention noise, pollution, though in August, when the Romans are out of town, there is an abatement of the ordinarily horrendous traffic problem. Then there is the body-pollution that afflicts the young in Rome as elsewhere in the world; arrests for the possession, sale and use of hashish in the Villa Borghese gardens are a current scandal.

The drug culture grows despite the terrifying laws against it (some American servicemen have recently received thirteen-year-prison sentences for drug possession).

It's not just Italy, of course, that suffers from the new ills that suddenly put on seven-league boots in that most degrading of all our recent decades, the Sixties. Coming through to Italy from France, one has read about the pollution of the River Maine, where swimming and fishing have been banned and the use of the river water for gardening has been prohibited by the health authorities of the city of Angers.

And, in the Paris International Herald Tribune, there is a feature story from the U.S. about 35,555 Vermonters being warned to "boil the water you drink until a state chemist can be brought in to monitor the system." This from one of the cleanest American states. As they said in Rome, according to Shakespeare, "Et tu, Brute."

Maybe the world has always been polluted; maybe it is only our consciousness of the problem that has changed in magnitude. In the Middle Ages they had the Black Death, and enteritis — "Montezuma's revenge" in Mexico — has been an ancient traveler's story. But whether things have actually grown worse or not, something must be done about cleaning up the planet. It was intolerable when Hitler was in the headlines, and now it's intolerable when Hitler has been replaced by dirt.

Landmark

By GENE HANDSAKER

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A landmark has had its face lifted, to the delight of hill dwellers and especially Albert Kothe.

The landmark is a block-long mountain sign, "HOLLYWOOD," sprawling proudly in 50-foot galvanized-iron letters above the film capital and seen for many years by countless tourists.

Weathered and dilapidated, it has just been repaired and repainted through concerned citizens, efforts at a cost of $4,500.

Kothe, 77, is a German immigrant who lived in a shack behind the first "L" during the sign's first eight years, when its letters were outlined in light bulbs, like make-up mirrors.

In those days the sign read "HOLLYWOODLAND," the subdivision of the real estate company that built the sign and employed Kothe to replace its burned-out bulbs.

Every month or so he'd stuff his shirt with 20-watt bulbs, make the perilous climb by iron-pipe crossbars and replace the 30 to 50 of the sign's 4,000 globes that had gone dark.

"Never got hurt," says Kothe pronounced Ko-teh, who's bald, with a bulldog build and still heavy accent.

Among his memories are Mack Sennett filming a bevy of bathing beauties near the sign and lovers' cars clattering and littering the landscape by night.

"Finally had to build a gate across the road," says Kothe. Airline pilots, he says, used the sign as a guidepost in heading for the Burbank airport. They protested talk of removing the marker after the subdivision was sold and the sign became dilapidated.

Someone, he says, stole all 4,000 no longer used bulbs.

Wind blew down the "H" so that the sign read "OLLYWOODLAND." Several years later, in 1949, the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce came to the rescue, restored the "H" and lopped off the "LAND," creating the film town landmark.

The late Fletcher Bowron, then Los Angeles mayor, puffed up a mountain trail and broke ground for the "H" with a pick ax.

Wind and weather eroded the signs' paint and destroyed parts of its sheet-metal letters again in recent years. Kiwanians, Rotarians and chamber leaders raised $4,500 for renovation.

The city chopped down encroaching brush and trees. Bridge painters slapped their last white brushfuls on the sign a few days ago.

Kothe says, "It looks nice. Everybody up here is glad."

35 YEARS AGO

Two and one-half inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period Sept. 2. Continuing rains caused streams and rivers to rise so rapidly, 45 sheep belonging to County Auditor Forrest Short were drowned in the waters of Yellowbud Creek.

Circleville Chamber of Commerce relocated offices from the Masonic temple to the second floor of the building occupied by G. C. Murphy Co. Red Cross also planned to maintain an office in the new room.

A school time value at Penney's was boys' lined knickers — with knitted cuffs — for 98 cents.

County commissioners were informed through the federal relief director that after Sept. 15, the county would be expected to take over the relief program, using its own funds and directing relief as it sees fit.

Several local projects to be filed under WPA allotments were an $82,000 addition to Circleville High School, an extensive sanitary and storm sewer project and the removal of car tracks from Court St. in the city, and an addition to the county court house.

The Herald offered boys and girls an opportunity to turn their bicycles, clothing, roller skates, guns, games, books, footballs, shoes, toys, etc. into ready cash before school started through Want Ads. Any boy or girl 16 years of age or less could insert an ad to sell, swap or trade for five cents per week, the ad to run seven consecutive days or until canceled.

Miss Virginia Cady appeared in police court charged with speeding. Court judge was her father, Mayor W. B. Cady. She was fined $5 and costs. The costs were suspended.

Circleville High School was crowded to the doors with 398 pupils enrolled. Total enrollment for the city's public schools was 1,629, an increase of 14.

New Holland celebrated its centennial.

Price for cutting corn averaged from 12 to 15 cents a shock on a 14-hill square.

City Fire Chief Talmer Wise became the owner of a 1902 Mercer which he planned to use in the Pumpkin Show parades. The tiny car had two single seats and was powered by a two cylinder air cooled motor.

Active civic leader, Republican "Friend of Presidents" Charles E. Groce, died at his home, 219 S. Court St. at the age of 84. He was the son of city pioneers Mr. and Mrs. John Groce.

Governor's Aide May Get High Court Appointment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Insiders at the statehouse say Gov. James A. Rhodes will appoint his chief aide, John McElroy, to the Ohio Supreme Court before he leaves office in January.

Although no vacancies exist on the high court, there are reports that Judge M. Matthias, who has been in ill health, will resign.

Matthias, 67, will have four years remaining on a six-year term when Rhodes' leaves office.

McElroy, 62, was minority counsel for the U.S. Senate Commerce Committee before joining Rhodes. Prior to that, he was administrative assistant to U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker.

Those who know U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe best discount remarks he is unhappy with the job and will not seek re-election.

Saxbe, they note, made similar statements while serving in almost every elective position he has held.

In 1966, he said he wasn't interested in seeking re-election as attorney general but that Gov. James A. Rhodes talked him into it.

In 1967, after his re-election, he said he was interested in no other public office after finishing his term. At the end of that year, he announced for the U.S. Senate.

He also disavowed any political intentions in 1959, shortly after being defeated for attorney general in the Democratic landslide.

"He means it every time," a former Saxbe aide commented. "It's just that there's always somebody around to change his mind."

Those "I'm-a-Metz fan" buttons popular with supporters of Howard M. Metzbaum for U.S. Senate could become embarrassing around World Series time.

They first appeared when Metzbaum was running in the Democratic primary against former astronaut John Glenn.

The underdog New York Mets baseball team, fresh from a World Series championship, was popular in Ohio.

But their popularity is decreasing now that the Cincinnati Reds are leading contenders for the National League pennant.

Supporters of Treasurer John D. Herbert, Republican nominee for attorney general, cried foul when backers of Democrat William J. Brown put campaign materials on cars at the Ohio State Fair.

Herbert's office said Brown, a Lisbon attorney, should have known it was against fairground policy to spread campaign propaganda at the fairgrounds. Herbert, as treasurer, has a booth at the fair. So do other state officials, all of them Republicans.

Brown's backers had put red, white and blue litter bags bearing the message, "Elect William J. Brown, Your Next Attorney General," on auto antennas in fairground parking lots.

The Ohio State Fair is run by Jerry Kaltenbach, a Republican appointee. With encouragement from Gov. Rhodes, he has built the fair into one of the country's largest.

Republicans consider the fair almost a private promotion. Rhodes began promoting it shortly after then Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, his 1962 opponent, said he didn't like fairs.

The Adult Reading World

Your attention is called to the library hours in effect through September: 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on week days, nine to five on Saturdays. During this period, the library is being renovated. Have you noticed? In the past months, collections have been updated and brightened. New paint and carpeting soon to be installed will make an even greater improvement.

Through arrangements with the state library, a revolving collection of twenty-five large-print books will be in the library for lending to Pickaway County patrons. These are popular titles and are not abridged. Printed on sight-saving paper and presented in a pleasing format, they are popular with those who wish to read without eyestrain as well as the visually handicapped.

Attorneys Seek Bail Setting In Gun Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attorneys for Clifford L. Davenport, 20, accused on two counts of shooting at police, were expected today to appeal a Municipal Court refusal for bail.

Davenport's formal arraignment on two charges of shooting with intent to kill were postponed until Tuesday by Judge Rupert Doan. Ronald Morgan, defense attorney, had asked for $2,000 bond on each count.

One charge involves the wounding of Patrolman Edmund Schindler on Aug. 23. Schindler was shot as he sat in his police cruiser in the predominantly Negro Avondale section. His condition remained fair in a hospital.

The second charge involved an exchange of shots with detectives who said they sought Tuesday night to question three men in connection with the Schindler shooting.

Since these collections will be changed every thirty days, the books will be loaned for a seven day period.

New bookmobile service to Ashville residents this year will be monthly three-hour village stops. They will take place on Saturdays from 1:00 p. m. to 4 p. m. This month's date is September twelfth. In October, the scheduled stop will be on the tenth. Copies of the bookmobile winter schedule are available at the library and on the bookmobile.

Among the new titles now available at the library are: "The Ugly Frontier," by David Shears, a lively discussion of the eight hundred fifty-eight mile stretch of no-man's land which includes the Berlin Wall; "Last Things," another superb novel by C. P. Snow; "Phil and Me," a suspense story by Martin Woodhouse; "Second Chance," a collection of short stories by Louis Auchincloss; "Bucher: My Story," by the commander of the ill-fated Pueblo; "Warhead," by Noel B. Gerson; and "Trumpet at the Gates," a historical novel by Jan Wiegery.

"Horses, History, and Havoc through the Ages with Hoof in Mouth" is a book which Elinor Goulding Smith wrote to be funny. Such an opening sentence has probably lost ninety percent of the people who started to read this review. Truly the book itself nearly lost this reader in the first few chapters, but I had been asked to review it, so I read on. Now I am glad that I did. The book is a survey of the history of the horse, real and mythological in history and in art from the beginning of recorded time. Treated gaily and with tongue in cheek, written to be funny, it accomplishes its aim.

Especially amusing is the chapter entitled "Horses, for Better or Worse in Art." If you like horses and or history, you'd better look into this book. Above review by Annette Will.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Before the onslaught of new and returning series, there is time for a quick look at the summer television season. "Uneventful" perhaps is the best word to describe it, and "quiet" is in second place.

For the most part it was, as usual, reruns of the dramas and situation comedies. Closest thing to a hit seems to have been the Dean Martin replacement on NBC, "The Goldiggers." And the closest thing to a new star seems to have been Marty Feldman, its resident comedian, a Britisher who specializes in physical humor and sight gags. Since the summer series did well in the ratings, there already is talk about its being a January replacement.

CBS's most ambitious hot weather experiment, "Comedy Tonight," had some fine moments but even more valiant efforts that didn't quite come off. But the aim was high and here were some nice moments when the satire hit the mark. Robert Klein, the biggest name in the series, is bright, brash, often funny and needs a little more seasoning.

NBC's summer "Music Hall Series," like the Dean Martin replacement was taped in England, and it introduced Des O'Connor to American audiences. He has a pleasant singing voice, an easy manner and gentle humor. But the series was so low-key it was a substantial as a Chinese dinner.

"Where's Huddles?" on CBS was one of those crudely drawn cartoon shows with characters that resembled "The Flintstones" and gags that apparently were cribbed from Stone-Age cave walls. The kids probably loved it—it drew surprisingly high ratings—but it will hardly be one of the adult viewers' cherished memories.

The Smothers Brothers returned for a couple of months—on ABC—and made fewer ripples than are on a mill pond. The once controversial team seemed content to sing songs, wrangle a bit and keep their comedy light and their opinions on world matters to themselves.

ABC's most successful straw hat show was Johnny Cash's country music replacement, the Everly Brothers. The variety hour contained the standard Nashville sound, great if you like it.

Ray Stevens, who took over for Andy Williams on NBC, came up with another definitely youth-oriented series, both in music and comedy style. It was nothing electrifying but was pleasant.

Hoffa May Be Squeezed Out Of Teamsters Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Early maneuverings for the Teamsters convention next year indicate the union's imprisoned president, James R. Hoffa, may finally be squeezed out.

Acting Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's hand-picked stand-in, is letting it be known that he will run for the $100,000-a-year presidency of the 2 million member union—the world's largest—if Hoffa is "unavailable."

Hoffa is not likely to be available. He is serving an eight-year sentence for jury tampering in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., still appealing a five-year mail fraud conviction, and already has been turned down once for parole.

The betting in the union is that Hoffa will have a slim chance of succeeding when he comes up for parole again in March, probably his last chance to win freedom before the Teamsters presidential election at their convention in Miami Beach next July.

Two of the most powerful of the union's 12 vice presidents have already pledged Fitzsimmons their support for him to run for president in his own right, inside sources said. The two are Einar Mohn, who heads the union's West Coast division, and Murray W. (Dusty) Miller, head of the Teamsters Southern Conference.

Some sources speculate that Hoffa could win reelection even if he is still in prison, but Mohn and Miller are reliably reported to be opposed to letting him run.

A source close to Fitzsimmons said either Hoffa or Fitzsimmons could easily win election, but the decision on who the candidate will be is most likely to be made among the powerful vice presidents on the union's ruling Executive Board.

A move to nominate a still jailed Hoffa is likely to split the board and turn the election into a wide-open fight, a prospect that Teamsters leaders are likely to want to avoid.

Fitzsimmons reportedly has been well received by most other Teamsters leaders since he took over when Hoffa went to prison in 1967, because he reinstated the union's chain of command, which Hoffa often short-circuited to confer special favors and attention on some union members.

Hoffa retained the union's presidency when he went to prison but forfeited the $100,000 a year salary in lieu of an undisclosed financial arrangement to take care of his family.

Most sources agree that Hoffa should win reelection if he were freed on parole before the convention with no restrictions on running for office again, but other Teamsters leaders are reportedly planning on the basis that he will still be behind bars.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Orchestra members have rejected a proposed three-year contract and say they're prepared to strike when their old contract expires at midnight Sunday.

Members voted 79 to 17 Thursday against a proposal which would have boosted their present minimum weekly salary of $255 to $280 after three years.

Musicians had offered to work under terms of their old contract while negotiations continued if pay raises were made retroactive, but union leader Anthony A. Granata said Thursday the Musical Arts Association was unlikely to grant retroactive raises.

Republicans consider the fair almost a private promotion. Rhodes began promoting it shortly after then Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, his 1962 opponent, said he didn't like fairs.

Since these collections will be changed every thirty days, the books will be loaned for a seven day period.

New bookmobile service to Ashville residents this year will be monthly three-hour village stops. They will take place on Saturdays from 1:00 p.m. to 4 p.m. This month's date is September twelfth. In October, the scheduled stop will be on the tenth. Copies of the bookmobile winter schedule are available at the library and on the bookmobile.

Among the new titles now available at the library are: "The Ugly Frontier," by David Shears, a lively discussion of the eight hundred fifty-eight mile stretch of no-man's land which includes the Berlin Wall; "Last Things," another superb novel by C. P. Snow; "Phil and Me," a suspense story by Martin Woodhouse; "Second Chance," a collection of short stories by Louis Auchincloss; "Bucher: My Story," by the commander of the ill-fated Pueblo; "Warhead," by Noel B. Gerson; and "Trumpet at the Gates," a historical novel by Jan Widgey.

"Horses, History, and Have through the Ages with Hoof in Mouth" is a book which Elinor Goulding Smith wrote to be funny. Such an opening sentence has probably lost ninety percent of the people who started to read this review. Truly the book itself nearly lost this reader in the first few chapters, but I had been asked to review it, so I read on. Now I am glad that I did. The book is a survey of the history of the horse, real and mythological in history and in art from the beginning of recorded time. Treated gaily and with tongue in cheek, written to be funny, it accomplishes its aim.

Especially amusing is the chapter entitled "Horses, for Better or Worse in Art." If you like horses and or history, you'd better look into this book. Above review by Annette Will.

One charge involves the wounding of Patrolman Edmund Schindler on Aug. 23. Schindler was shot as he sat in his police cruiser in the predominantly Negro Avondale section. His condition remained fair in a hospital.

The second charge involved an exchange of shots with detectives who said they sought Tuesday night to question three men in connection with the Schindler shooting.

Supporters of Treasurer John D. Herbert, Republican nominee for attorney general, cried foul when backers of Democrat William J. Brown put campaign materials on cars at the Ohio State Fair.

Herbert's office said Brown, a Lisbon attorney, should have known it was against fairground policy to place campaign propaganda at the fairgrounds. Herbert, as treasurer, has a booth at the fair. So do other state officials, all of them Republicans.

Brown's backers had put red, white and blue litter bags bearing the message, "Elect William J. Brown Your Next Attorney General," on auto antennas in fairground parking lots.

The Ohio State Fair is run by Jerry Kaltenbach, a Republican appointee. With encouragement from Gov. Rhodes, he has built the fair into one of the country's largest.

Views On TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWR Y

AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Before

the onslaught of new and returning series, there is time for a quick look at the summer television season. "Uneventful" perhaps is the best word to describe it, and "quiet" is in second place.

For the most part it was, as usual, reruns of the dramas and situation comedies. Closest thing to a hit seems to have been the Dean Martin replacement on NBC, "The Goldiggers." And the closest thing to a new star seems to have been Marty Feldman, its resident comedian, a Britisher who specializes in physical humor and sight gags. Since the summer series did well in the ratings, there already is talk about its being a January replacement.

CBS's most ambitious hot weather experiment, "Comedy Tonight," had some fine moments but even more valiant efforts that didn't quite come off. But the aim was high and here were some nice moments when the satire hit the mark. Robert Klein, the biggest name in the series, is bright, brash, often funny and needs a little more seasoning.

NBC's summer "Music Hall Series," like the Dean Martin replacement was taped in England, and it introduced Des O'Connor to American audiences. He has a pleasant singing voice, an easy manner and gentle humor. But the series was so low-key it was a substantial as a Chinese dinner.

"Where's Huddles?" on CBS was one of those crudely drawn cartoon shows with characters that resembled "The Flintstones" and gags that apparently were cribbed from Stone-Age cave walls. The kids probably loved it—it drew surprisingly high ratings—but it will hardly be one of the adult viewers' cherished memories.

The Smothers Brothers returned for a couple of months—on ABC—and made fewer ripples than are on a mill pond. The once controversial team seemed content to sing songs, wrangle a bit and keep their comedy light and their opinions on world matters to themselves.

ABC's most successful straw hat show was Johnny Cash's country music replacement, the Everly Brothers. The variety hour contained the standard Nashville sound, great if you like it.

Ray Stevens, who took over for Andy Williams on NBC, came up with another definitely youth-oriented series, both in music and comedy style. It was nothing electrifying but was pleasant.

Hoffa May Be Squeezed Out Of Teamsters Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Early maneuverings for the Teamsters convention next year indicate the union's imprisoned president, James R. Hoffa, may finally be squeezed out.

Acting Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's hand-picked stand-in, is letting it be known that he will run for the $100,000-a-year presidency of the 2 million member union—the world's largest—if Hoffa is "unavailable."

Hoffa is not likely to be available. He is serving an eight-year sentence for jury tampering in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., still appealing a five-year mail fraud conviction, and already has been turned down once for parole.

The betting in the union is that Hoffa will have a slim chance of succeeding when he comes up for parole again in March, probably his last chance to win freedom before the Teamsters presidential election at their convention in Miami Beach next July.

Two of the most powerful of the union's 12 vice presidents have already pledged Fitzsimmons their support for him to run for president in his own right, inside sources said. The two are Einar Mohn, who heads the union's West Coast division, and Murray W. (Dusty) Miller, head of the Teamsters Southern Conference.

Some sources speculate that Hoffa could win reelection even if he is still in prison, but Mohn and Miller are reliably reported to be opposed to letting him run.

A source close to Fitzsimmons said either Hoffa or Fitzsimmons could easily win election, but the decision on who the candidate will be is most likely to be made among the powerful vice presidents on the union's ruling Executive Board.

A move to nominate a still jailed Hoffa is likely to split the board and turn the election into a wide-open fight, a prospect that Teamsters leaders are likely to want to avoid.

Fitzsimmons reportedly has been well received by most other Teamsters leaders since he took over when Hoffa went to prison in 1967, because he reinstituted the union's chain of command, which Hoffa often short-circuited to confer special favors and attention on some union members.

Hoffa retained the union's presidency when he went to prison but forfeited the $100,000 a year salary in lieu of an undisclosed financial arrangement to take care of his family.

Most sources agree that Hoffa should win reelection if he were freed on parole before the convention with no restrictions on running for office again, but other Teamsters leaders are reportedly planning on the basis that he will still be behind bars.

The Adult Reading World

Your attention is called to the library hours in effect through September: 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on week days, nine to five on Saturdays. During this period, the library is being renovated. Have you noticed? In the past months, collections have been up-dated and brightened. New paint and carpeting soon to be installed will make an even greater improvement.

Through arrangements with the state library, a revolving collection of twenty-five large-print books will be in the library for lending to Pickaway County patrons. These are popular titles and are not abridged. Printed on sight-saving paper and presented in a pleasing format, they are popular with those who wish to read without eyestrain as well as the visually handicapped.

Attorneys Seek Bail Setting In Gun Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attorneys for Clifford L. Davenport, 20, accused on two counts of shooting at police, were expected today to appeal a Municipal Court refusal to bail.

Davenport's formal arraignment on two charges of shooting with intent to kill were postponed until Tuesday by Judge Rupert Doan. Ronald Morgan, defense attorney, had asked for $2,000 bond on each count.

Musicians Deadlocked

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Orchestra members have rejected a proposed three-year contract and say they're prepared to strike when their old contract expires at midnight Sunday.

Members voted 79 to 17 Thursday against a proposal which would have boosted their present minimum weekly salary of $255 to $280 after three years.

Musicians had offered to work under terms of their old contract while negotiations continued if pay raises were made retroactive, but union leader Anthony A. Granata said Thursday the Musical Arts Association was unlikely to grant retroactive raises.

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Laurel Hills Church

MRS. STEPHEN LEE NEFF

Miss Sharon Theta DeLong became the bride of Stephen Lee Neff in a double ring ceremony in the Laurel Hills United Methodist Church, Laurelville, on August 23. The 2:30 p.m. ceremony was performed by Rev. Wayne Fowler of First United Methodist Church of Newark.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel K. DeLong Sr. of Route 2, Laurelville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Neff, Route 2, Circleville.

A program of wedding music preceding the ceremony was presented by Mrs. Roger Egan of Laurelville, organist and Mrs. Richard Pettit of Circleville, soloist.

Yellow and white candles and arrangements of yellow gladioli and yellow and white mums with green foliage were placed on the altar. Baskets of yellow gladioli and white mums and yellow pompons, with pew markers of white ribbon bows and greenery decorated the sanctuary.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of ivory silk peau de soie with scoop neckline and elbow length lace sleeves. The sides of the A-line skirt were trimmed with lace and the back of the gown was enhanced with covered buttons above the court train. The matching cathedral length mantilla was edged in lace and mounted on a Spanish frame. The bride carried a cascade of white rosebuds.

Maid of honor was Miss Cynthia DeLong, sister of the bride, matron of honor was Mrs. Jeffrey Lutz, Circleville. They wore floor length jumper style gowns of copper and ivory with self buttons on the bodice and set-in waistline. The ivory crepe blouse had a Peter Pan collar and long bishop sleeves. They wore headpieces of copper double Dior bows with matching short pouf illusion, and carried arm bouquets of yellow gladioli with green ribbon bow and streamers.

The bridesmaids who were dressed identically to the honor attendants were Miss Christine DeLong, junior bridesmaid and sister of the bride; Miss Maureen Pointer, Painesville; Miss Nancy Ray, sorority sister, Lancaster; Miss Linda Kempf, Lancaster and Mrs. Daniel K. DeLong Jr., sister-in-law of the bride. They carried arm bouquets of yellow gladioli with yellow ribbon bow and streamers.

Mr. Terry Neff, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Ben List, Mr. Terry Anderson of Circleville, Mr. Daniel K. DeLong Jr., Mr. Michael B. DeLong, brothers of the bride and Mr. John Troutman, cousin of the groom, served as ring bearer.

Mrs. DeLong was escorted down the aisle by her two sons, Daniel Jr. and Michael. She selected for her daughter's wedding a gold karate dress with venise lace trim and matching gold Dior bow headpiece. Mrs. Neff, mother of the bridegroom was attired in a moss green silk shantung ensemble, and wore a rust whimsy headpiece. Each mother wore a yellow rosebud corsage.

The bride's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orland DeLong, and the bridegroom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Herbert Melvin, the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles Neff were in attendance. The grandmothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Serving as hostesses were Miss Marian Moore, Miss Mary Belding, Miss Teresa Troutman, Mrs. William Myers, Mrs. Max Young and Mrs. Sam Jones. Mrs. Eric Baer presided at the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to Cape Cod, the couple now resides in Laurelville. The bride is a June graduate of Ohio State University, a member of the Phi Mu Sorority and is a teacher in the Laurelville School System. The bridegroom is employed at Owens-Illinois Forest Products Division, Circleville.

Out-of-town guests were from Circleville, Washington C. H., Lancaster, Akron, Painesville, Columbus, Iowa and Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Neff entertained with the rehearsal dinner at the Pickaway Arms, Circleville on Saturday evening.

Miss Ruthea Anne Giese Bride Of Frank A. Haase

MR. AND MRS. FRANK ALBERT HAASE

St. Paul Evangelical United Lutheran Church of Ashville was the setting for the 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 29, marriage of Miss Ruthea Anne Giese and Mr. Frank Albert Haase. The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Henry E. Giese, Route 2, Ashville and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Alma Haase, Gilman, Ill., and the late Mr. George Haase.

Rev. Giese, father of the bride, performed the ceremony before the altar adorned with vases of white gladioli and daisies, flanked with seven branch candelabra.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Charles McCray, organist of Ashville and vocalist Miss Virginia Twynham, Blue Island, Ill. Michael Haase, nephew of the groom, served as acolyte.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Theodore Giese, and given in marriage by her parents. She selected for her wedding day a formal length gown of white crepe with scooped neckline, long tapered lace sleeves that ended in points—over her hands and closed with small covered buttons. The skirt on the empire waist flowed into a brief train. The chapel length veil of tulle and lace was caught to a large bow of crepe and lace with lilies of the valley. She carried a cascade arrangement of white daisy pompons, gardenias, fern and white satin bows. Her only jewelry was a necklace of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Theodore P. Giese, was attired in a coral pink crepe floor length gown with a scoop neckline, empire waist and brief sleeves. She carried a bouquet of pink miniature carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. George Neff entertained with the rehearsal dinner at the Pickaway Arms, Circleville on Saturday evening.

Jahn and Miss Marie Glendenen attired as the matron of honor in blush pink. Their bouquets and headpieces were the same as the honor attendants.

Flower girl, Jessica Woodruff, was dressed as the matron of honor and carried a basket of pink rose petals.

Mr. Albert Haase of Gilman, Ill., brother of the groom, performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. William J. Giese and Mr. James M. Giese, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Giese was attired in a hot pink double knit dress with white accessories. Mrs. Haase wore a rose pink dress with pink accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of white carnations.

Mrs. Ruth Pontious was in charge of the reception in the church social rooms immediately following the ceremony. The wedding cake was in the symbol of a cross with wedding rings on the top. Hostesses were Mrs. John Woodruff, Mrs. Richard Roberts, Ashville; Miss Carolyn Losee, Blue Island, Ill. and Mrs. Keith Kauffed, Orient.

For the wedding trip to the New England States, the bride wore a cream and burnt-orange dress and a corsage of gardenias. The couple will be at home after Sept. 7 at Route 1, Gilman, Ill.

The new Mrs. Haase is a graduate of Teays Valley High School and Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa. She taught the past year at First Lutheran Parochial School at Blue Island, Ill. Mr. Haase attended schools in Gilman, Ill., and is engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Gilman, Piper City, Onarga, Milford, Watseka and Blue Island, Ill.; Sandusky, Columbus, Dayton and Etina, Ohio; Michigan and Indiana.

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Laurel Hills Church

MRS. STEPHEN LEE NEFF

Miss Sharon Theta DeLong became the bride of Stephen Lee Neff in a double ring ceremony in the Laurel Hills United Methodist Church, Laurelville, on August 23. The 2:30 p.m. ceremony was performed by Rev. Wayne Fowler of First United Methodist Church of Newark.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel K. DeLong Sr. of Route 2, Laurelville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Neff, Route 2, Circleville.

A program of wedding music presented by Mrs. Roger Egan of Laurelville, organist and Mrs. Richard Pettit of Circleville, soloist.

Yellow and white candles and arrangements of yellow gladioli and yellow and white mums with green foliage were placed on the altar. Baskets of yellow gladioli and white mums and yellow pompons, with new markers of white ribbon bows and greenery decorated the sanctuary.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of ivory silk peau de soie with scoop neckline and elbow length lace sleeves. The sides of the A-line skirt were trimmed with lace and the back of the gown was enhanced with covered buttons above the court train. The matching cathedral length mantilla was edged in lace and mounted on a Spanish frame. The bride carried a cascade of white rosebuds.

Maid of honor was Miss Cynthia DeLong, sister of the bride, matron of honor was Mrs. Jeffrey Lutz, Circleville. They wore floor length jumper style gowns of copper and ivory with self buttons on the bodice and set-in waistline. The ivory crepe blouse had a Peter Pan collar and long bishop sleeves. They wore headpieces of copper double Dior bows with matching short pouf illusion, and carried arm bouquets of yellow gladioli with green ribbon bow and streamers.

The bridesmaids who were dressed identical to the honor attendants were Miss Christine DeLong, junior bridesmaid and sister of the bride; Miss Maureen Pointer, Painesville; Miss Nancy Ray, sorority sister, Lancaster; Miss Linda Kemp-ton, Lancaster and Mrs. Daniel K. DeLong Jr., sister-in-law of the bride. They carried arm bouquets of yellow gladioli with yellow ribbon bow and streamers.

Mr. Terry Neff, brother of the groom, served as the best man. Ushers were Mr. Ben List, Mr. Terry Anderson of Circleville, Mr. Daniel K. DeLong Jr., Mr. Michael B. DeLong, brothers of the bride and Mr. John Troutman, cousin of the groom, Akron.

Amy Troutman, cousin of the groom, served as flower girl. She wore a floor length ivory dress trimmed with a rust ribbon around the empire waist and a rust ribbon in her hair. Skipper Ott, cousin of the groom, served as ring bearer.

Mrs. DeLong was escorted down the aisle by her two sons, Daniel Jr. and Michael. She selected for her daughter's wedding a gold karate dress with venise lace trim and matching gold Dior bow headpiece. Mrs. Neff, mother of the bridegroom was attired in a moss green silk shantung ensemble, and wore a rust whimsy headpiece. Each mother wore a yellow rosebud corsage.

The bride's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orland DeLong, and the bridegroom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Herbert Melvin, the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles Neff were in attendance. The grandmothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Serving as hostesses were Miss Marian Moore, Miss Mary Belding, Miss Teresa Troutman, Mrs. William Myers, Mrs. Max Young and Mrs. Sam Jones. Mrs. Eric Baer presided

Miss Ruthea Anne Giese Bride Of Frank A. Haase

MR. AND MRS. FRANK ALBERT HAASE

St. Paul Evangelical United Lutheran Church of Ashville was the setting for the 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 29, marriage of Miss Ruthea Anne Giese and Mr. Frank Albert Haase. The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Henry E. Giese, Route 2, Ashville and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Alma Haase, Gilman, Ill., and the late Mr. George Haase.

Rev. Giese, father of the bride, performed the ceremony before the altar adorned with vases of white gladioli and daisies, flanked by seven branch candelabra.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Charles McCray, organist of Ashville and vocalist Miss Virginia Twynham, Blue Island, Ill. Michael Haase, nephew of the groom, served as acolyte.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Theodore Giese, and given in marriage by her parents. She selected for her wedding day a formal length gown of white crepe with scooped neckline, long tapered lace sleeves that ended in points—over her hands and closed with small covered buttons. The skirt on the empire waist flowed into a brief train. The chapel length veil of tulle and lace was caught to a large bow of crepe and lace with lilies of the valley. She carried a cascade arrangement of white daisy pompons, gardenias, fern and white satin bows. Her only jewelry was a necklace of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Theodore P. Giese, was attired in a coral pink crepe floor length gown with a scoop neckline, empire waist and brief sleeves. She carried a bouquet of pink miniature carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. George Neff entertained with the rehearsal dinner at the Pickaway Arms, Circleville on Saturday evening.

Jahn and Miss Marie Glendenen attired as the matron of honor in blush pink. Their bouquets and headpieces were the same as the honor attendants.

Flower girl, Jessica Woodruff, was dressed as the matron of honor and carried a basket of pink rose petals.

Mr. Albert Haase of Gilman, Ill., brother of the groom, performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. William J. Giese and Mr. James M. Giese, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Giese was attired in a hot pink double knit dress with white accessories. Mrs. Haase wore a rose pink dress with pink accessories. Corsages for both mothers were of white carnations.

Mrs. Ruth Pontious was in charge of the reception in the church social rooms immediately following the ceremony. The wedding cake was in the symbol of a cross with wedding rings on the top. Hostesses were Mrs. John Woodruff, Mrs. Richard Roberts, Ashville; Miss Carolyn Losee, Blue Island, Ill. and Mrs. Keith Kauff, Orient.

For the wedding trip to the New England States, the bride wore a cream and burnt-orange dress and a corsage of gardenias. The couple will be at home after Sept. 7 at Route 1, Gilman, Ill.

The new Mrs. Haase is a graduate of Teays Valley High School and Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa. She taught the past year at First Lutheran Parochial School at Blue Island, Ill. Mr. Haase attended schools in Gilman, Ill., and is engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Gilman, Piper City, Onargo, Milford, Watseka and Blue Island, Ill.; Sandusky, Columbus, Dayton and Etna, Ohio; Michigan and Indiana.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Ending Misery Not Right Of Daughter

DEAR ABBY: My elderly mother has lived with me for three years. She is bedridden, completely helpless and is suffering from an incurable disease. In order to give her the care she needs, my husband and I have had to give up all vacations, most of our social life, not to mention the financial sacrifices we've made. It would be an act of mercy to give her "something" to put her out of her misery, and hasten her death.

What advice can you give me? Wouldn't it be humane to put an end to all this suffering?

UNCERTAIN
DEAR UNCERTAIN: Whose? Hers of yours? Doctors can do much to make a terminal patient comfortable. But to "put her out of her misery" as one would a dog, is clearly illegal. And for good reasons.

Giving a person the "legal right" to terminate the life of another under some circumstances may be "humane." But because that right could be abused for selfish gain, society must be protected against it.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful, generous, warm-hearted man. I know he loves me, and I love him. In spite of this, I have a problem. (I am wondering how many other women are classified as "frigid" for the same reason.)

I cannot touch, hug, kiss or show any affection toward my husband without him wanting to jump into bed. When he comes home after work, I have to be careful not to give him "too warm of a welcome home kiss" or I'd never get my dinner on the table. Consequently, if I keep out of his reach he accuses me of being a "cold fish."

Abby, we are not children. My husband is in his late fifties and I am in my late forties. Believe me, he has always gotten and still gets his share of affection, but I say enough is enough. I'd like your opinion.

TIRE
DEAR TIRE: I'm with you. Don't tell me "enough is enough." Tell him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and my problem is a gentleman who is a longtime friend of a relative. He keeps calling and inviting me out, and I keep putting him off. He's a nice person and has admirable qualities, and I would really like to know him better, but Abby, I am ashamed to be seen with him because of the way he dresses.

His trousers are baggy, and hang way down over his shoes. He will wear the jacket of one suit and the trousers of another. I'm sure he's neat and clean studying merchandising.

Sueanne Knisley will be a sophomore at Ohio U. majoring in English and secondary education. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knisley.

Janet Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lyons will be a senior at Ohio University, majoring in home economics.

but he has no taste in clothes whatsoever.

This man has plenty of money, so I can't understand why he doesn't keep up with the times. I have hinted around, and even offered him some of my late husband's clothes as they were about the same size, but he thanked me, saying he had more clothes than he could wear. (I believe it. I'm sure he hasn't given anything away for 30 years.) Any advice?

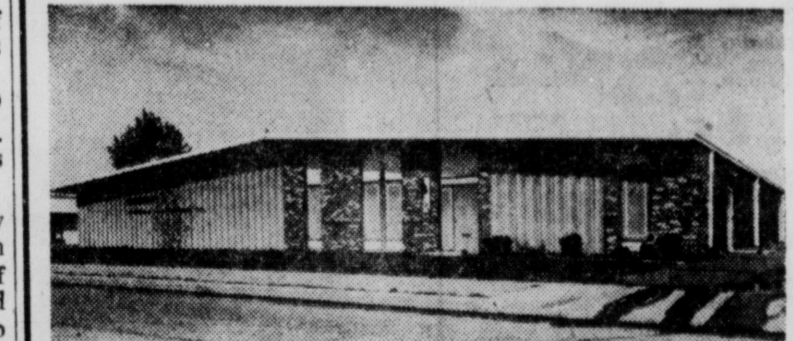

NAMELESS
DEAR NAMELESS: If you would like to know this gentleman better, but keep putting him off because of the way he dresses, shame on you. Clothes don't really make the man... they just make the man look better. There are plenty of snappy dressers around, but a "nice person with admirable qualities" is hard to find. Accept his invitation and if you'd like to see more of him, gently educate him toward a little more stylishness.

Find FHA Backing Loans To Union Pension Fund

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Federal Housing Administration has made more than $30 million worth of transactions in the past two years involving a giant and oft-investigated Teamsters Union pension fund.

The government official who approved the arrangements—including one of the largest loan guarantees ever made by the FHA—since has become president of a subsidiary of a corporation partly owned by the pension fund.

The transactions, all involving the FHA's San Diego office, came to light during an Associated Press investigation. The FHA in Washington says it does not believe it knew at the time of the transactions that they involved the Teamsters Union's Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas Pension Fund—the nation's largest labor-management pension fund.

The transactions include: —Insuring a $16 million land development loan to a company whose stock is held by the pension fund. The guarantee constitutes 70 per cent of an entire federal program. It is among the 25 largest guarantees ever made by FHA under any program, the agency said.

—Arranging at least $11.8 million in 3 per cent subsidized loans to San Diego corporations ultimately one-fifth owned by the pension fund.

—Insuring a $3.26 million loan at market interest rates for another such corporation.

This Teamsters' pension fund,

commonly called the Central States fund, has been the subject of numerous government investigations.

Teamsters president James R. Hoffa was convicted of mail fraud in connection with Central States fund dealings. A federal grand jury is probing the fund's financing of a massive Los Angeles land development project. A lengthy series of federal court trials in New York concerns alleged kickbacks paid to get fund loans.

Despite this attention from government investigators, the fund was able to benefit from FHA programs.

An FHA official in Washington said there is no prohibition against the agency dealing with a union, a union pension fund or a firm whose stock is held by either.

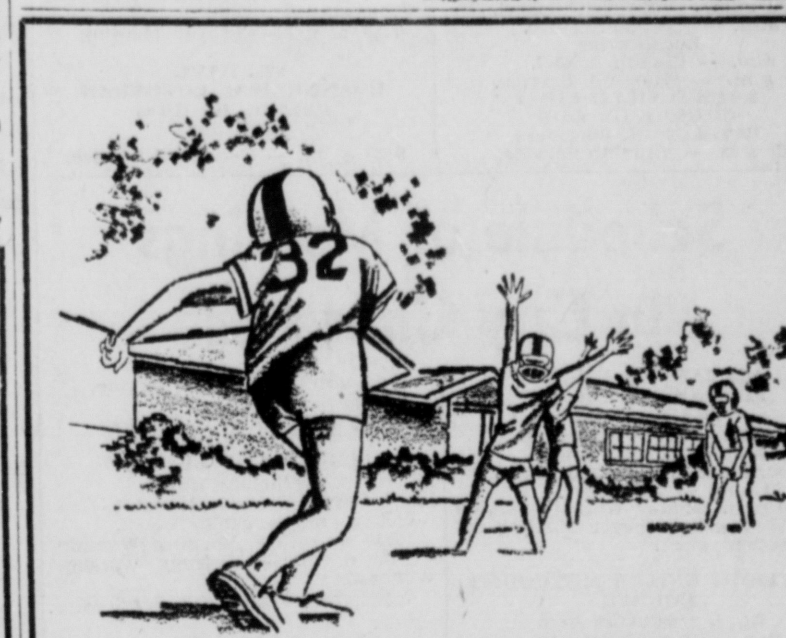

The San Diego transactions were approved by E.L. Tagwerker, director at the time of the FHA office here. Tagwerker took early retirement last February and went to work as president of Great Western Mortgage Co., a whollyowned subsidiary of Penasquitos Inc., a land development firm.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Ending Misery Not Right Of Daughter

DEAR ABBY: My elderly mother has lived with me for three years. She is bedridden, completely helpless and is suffering from an incurable disease. In order to give her the care she needs, my husband and I have had to give up all vacations, most of our social life, not to mention the financial sacrifices we've made. It would be an act of mercy to give her "something" to put her out of her misery, and hasten her death.

What advice can you give me? Wouldn't it be humane to put an end to all this suffering?

UNCERTAIN: Whose? Yours? Doctors can do much to make a terminal patient comfortable. But to "put her out of her misery" as one would a dog, is clearly illegal. And for good reasons.

Giving a person the "legal right" to terminate the life of another under some circumstances may be "humane." But because that right could be abused for selfish gain, society must be protected against it.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful, generous, warm-hearted man. I know he loves me, and I love him. In spite of this, I have a problem. (I am wondering how many other women are classified as "frigid" for the same reason.)

I cannot touch, hug, kiss or show any affection toward my husband without him wanting to jump into bed. When he comes home after work, I have to be careful not to give him too warm of a "welcome home kiss" or I'd never get my dinner on the table. Consequently, if I keep out of his reach he accuses me of being a "cold fish."

Abby, we are not children. My husband is in his late fifties and I am in my late forties. Believe me, he has always gotten and still gets his share of affection, but I say enough is enough. I'd like your opinion.

TIED: DEAR TIED: I'm with you. Don't tell me "enough is enough." Tell him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and my problem is a gentleman who is a longtime friend of a relative. He keeps calling and inviting me out, and I keep putting him off. He's a nice person and has admirable qualities, and I would really like to know him better, but Abby, I am ashamed to be seen with him because of the way he dresses.

His trousers are baggy, and hang way down over his shoes. He will wear the jacket of one suit and the trousers of another. I'm sure he's neat and clean studying merchandising.

Sueanne Knisley will be a sophomore at Ohio U. majoring in English and secondary education. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knisley.

Janet Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lyons will be a senior at Ohio University, majoring in home economics.

but he has no taste in clothes whatsoever.

This man has plenty of money, so I can't understand why he doesn't keep up with the times. I have hinted around, and even offered him some of my late husband's clothes as they were about the same size, but he thanked me, saying he had more clothes than he could wear. (I believe it. I'm sure he hasn't given anything away for 30 years.) Any advice?

NAMELESS

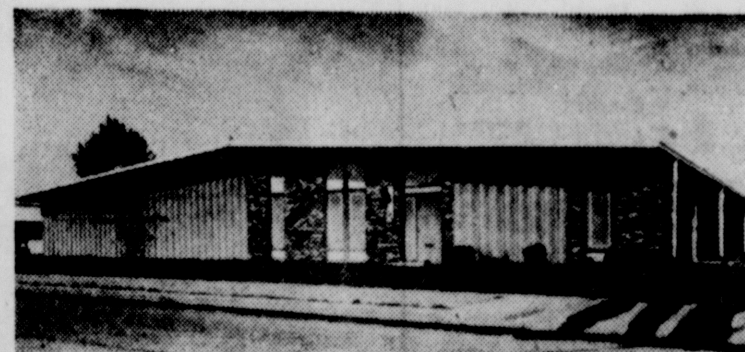

DEAR NAMELESS: If you would like to know this gentleman better, but keep putting him off because of the way he dresses, shame on you. Clothes don't really make the man... they just make the man look better. There are plenty of snappy dressers around, but a "nice person with admirable qualities" is hard to find. Accept his invitation and if you'd like to see more of him, gently educate him toward a little more stylishness.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WANTS TO KNOW": There is no law stating a physician may not deliver his own children, but most physicians prefer not to.

Find FHA Backing Loans To Union Pension Fund

By DICK BARNES

Associated Press Writer
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) —

The Federal Housing Administration has made more than $30 million worth of transactions in the past two years involving a giant and oft-investigated Teamsters Union pension fund.

The government official who approved the arrangements—including one of the largest loan guarantees ever made by the FHA—since has become president of a subsidiary of a corporation partly owned by the pension fund.

The transactions, all involving the FHA's San Diego office, came to light during an Associated Press investigation. The FHA in Washington says it does not believe it knew at the time of the transactions that they involved the Teamsters Union's Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas Pension Fund—the nation's largest labor-management pension fund.

The transactions include: —Insuring a $16 million land development loan to a company whose stock is held by the pension fund. The guarantee constitutes 70 per cent of an entire federal program. It is among the 25 largest guarantees ever made by FHA under any program, the agency said.

—Arranging at least $11.8 million in 3 per cent subsidized loans to San Diego corporations ultimately one-fifth owned by the pension fund.

—Insuring a $3.26 million loan at market interest rates for another such corporation.

This Teamsters' pension fund,

commonly called the Central States fund, has been the subject of numerous government investigations.

Teamsters president James R. Hoffa was convicted of mail fraud in connection with Central States fund dealings. A federal grand jury is probing the fund's financing of a massive Los Angeles land development project. A lengthy series of federal court trials in New York concerns alleged kickbacks paid to get fund loans.

Despite this attention from government investigators, the fund was able to benefit from FHA programs.

An FHA official in Washington said there is no prohibition against the agency dealing with a union, a union pension fund or a firm whose stock is held by either.

The San Diego transactions were approved by E.L. Tagwerker, director at the time of the FHA office here. Tagwerker took early retirement last February and went to work as president of Great Western Mortgage Co., a whollyowned subsidiary.

Why wait until Spring?

Fall is the naturally right time to improve your lawn!

The few weeks of late summer and early fall are by far the best opportunity to upgrade your lawn. Days are growing shorter. Dews are heavier. The soil is warm, and nights are growing cooler. It's the one time of year when Mother Nature has all the odds stacked in your favor — the naturally right time to make real lawn progress.

Turf Builder is the fertilizer that helps grass multiply itself. Turns thin browned out lawns into thicker, greener turf. Use it any time, any weather. Will not burn grass or harm grass seed. Clean. Lightweight. Easy to handle. How about this weekend?

A black and white photograph of a shopping cart filled with groceries. The cart is a standard wire mesh design with a handle at the top left. It is filled with various items: a large bag of rice or flour, a box of cereal, and several bags of vegetables, including leafy greens and root vegetables. The cart is positioned on a light-colored, textured surface, possibly a sidewalk or parking lot. The background is a plain, light-colored wall or fence. The overall image has a grainy, high-contrast quality typical of older newspaper print.

In this confused era where better can we turn for guidance and help than to the Church? Here we will discover the teachings of Christ — the most hallowed name of all.

THE SKY IS FALLING—Mrs. George Gruhlkey and her son Perry inspect an 80-pound piece of metal that fell in a flash of fire on their farm near Adrian, Tex. Other chunks of debris also fell over parts of Oklahoma and Kansas. The Air Force believes the pieces came from a dying Soviet satellite.

What's in a NAME?

People ask for brand-name products because they have become known for dependability and service through the years. These names assure us of quality.

We, too, are known by our names. Mention of John Smith immediately inspires a positive or negative reaction, depending upon the man's reputation. A good name is indeed our most priceless, yet most perishable, possession.

Day in and day out, our thoughts, words and actions must be on the side of goodness, for it is today which determines tomorrow's past — for good or for bad.

If we could only perform each act and utter each word as if they were our last, those by which we would be remembered, then how great would be the significance of our names!

In this confused era where better can we turn for guidance and help than to the Church? Here we will discover the teachings of Christ — the most hallowed name of all.

Providence Dome Is First In U.S.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The marble dome on the Rhode Island State House was the first in the United States and one of four in the world. It was completed in 1899.

Minnesota's capitol, also with a marble dome, was finished in 1905. The other marble domes are on the Taj Mahal and St. Peter's in Rome.

Mother And Son Graduate Together

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Both Mrs. Robert J. Kelly and her son James, one of her nine children, received their high school diplomas this spring. Mrs. Kelly, 40, said she had to drop out of high school after her father died. Then she decided to take advantage of the adult completion programs in the schools.

Mobile Homes Are Here To Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — People who live in mobile homes aren't vagabonds anymore. One out of three families living in mobile homes today plan on staying in their unit permanently. According to a survey sponsored by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, another 6 per cent will stay 10 or more years while 27 per cent will remain between 5 and 10 years.

Providence Dome Is First In U.S.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The marble dome on the Rhode Island State House was the first in the United States and one of four in the world. It was completed in 1899. Minnesota's capitol, also with a marble dome, was finished in 1905. The other marble domes are on the Taj Mahal and St. Peter's in Rome.

Mother And Son Graduate Together

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Both Mrs. Robert J. Kelly and her son James, one of her nine children, received their high school diplomas this spring. Mrs. Kelly, 40, said she had to drop out of high school after her father died. Then she decided to take advantage of the adult completion programs in the schools.

Mobile Homes Are Here To Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — People who live in mobile homes aren't vagabonds anymore. One out of three families living in mobile homes today plan on staying in their unit permanently. According to a survey sponsored by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, another 6 per cent will stay 10 or more years while 27 per cent will remain between 5 and 10 years.

Here for a visit with friends and relatives are Mrs. Jeri Riley and Ronnie Wessinger of Leesburg, Fla. and what's more fun than a family carry - in honoring the guests and so it was a couple Sundays ago and where is a better place to hold such a gathering than Deer-creek Dam?

Members of the clan came in from many directions and they were: John and Doris McDonald and family, Mike and Andrea McDonald and daughter, Rena Adams, Marie Ackley, and Mrs. James Frankfort, and family from Frankfort; Ralph and Bea Adams and family, Bob and Kim Collins and son from Chillicothe; over from Bloomingburg came Glen and Alma Owens and unable to come because of illness were Dick and Janice Barton and their two sons (the Bartons are former area residents); Bill and Nancy Cupp and family made the trip from Milford; Mary Owens and her friend, Kent drove down from Columbus; out Greenfield way it was John and Ruth Templin and their offspring, Herb Templin, Susan and John Templin, Jr. and from Washington C. H. came Ralph Templin; locally there were Darrell and Glenna (aunt) Wisecup and handsome Drew, Joe and Janey Cottrill (Mrs. Riley's sister) and their Cheryl, Tina, Vicki and Master Scott.

It was a marvelous day of picnicking, games, boating and water skiing and just plain old gab sessions. The floridians were house guests of the Cottrills during part of their visit.

Most everyone seems to have settled into the back to school routine without much ado and perhaps still a bit nostalgic over that last minute vacation such as John and Mildred Skinner and sons Scott and Jeff who did the Henry Ford Museum, Greenfield Village scene at Dearborn and also toured a huge farm supply store at Maumee (you can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy, etc., etc.) Scott then spent some time with relatives in the Delaware environs but Jeff was unable to go since being a member of the good Westfall Band he was required to participate at the South Central shebang at Lancaster. This was quite an honor for our boys and girls and of course our fearless leader, Mr. James Kibby. From daughter Becki we hear it was a real tuff day!

Back home from a week's sojourn to the delights of Florida are Mrs. Harold (Norma) Mace, her Sally, Nancy and Barbara and a sister. Another daughter, Linda, was busily cracking the books in preparation for finals at O.S.U. summer quarter. She is due home sometime today for a break before fall term.

Mrs. Elizabeth Martindale of Grove City has been the house guest of her brother and his wife, Alonzo and Rachel Buzzard and another brother Charlie who makes his home with the Buzzards. They have spent a lot of time visiting with other relatives and friends.

It was a full house recently on Sunday at Charles and Ethel Galloways. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilmore, brother and family Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilmore, Jr. and six all gathered in for dinner and a day of family chit-chat. Helping with the hosting chores were the young Galloways, Dena and Brenda.

Ray Valone is conducting business as usual despite a broken left elbow suffered a few days ago.

Luther Anderson, well known and highly respected villager and member of council, suffered a stroke at his home and is a patient at Berger Hospital where his condition is fair. With him daily are members of his family and especially his devoted wife of many years, Hattie. Their son Creighton and his family are here from their home which is Texas, I think.

Linden and Sue Gibson were in Bucyrus Monday to be with their good friend Ernie Lindsey and extend the concerned wishes of many friends for a rapid and complete recovery.

Right before school begins always finds lots of folks making moves and our village is not exception. Art and Carolyn Greene and two boys Greg and Ronnie have moved to the Austin Greene farm on the Smith Hulse Rd. Moving into the house they vacated are Gary and Sandy Wisecup and their Tracey and Bryan. Ronald and Linda Waugh family have made the move into their newly built home and going into the house left empty by them are members of the Kenneth Williams family. The Paul Smith family are also snugly enconced in their newly built home, too.

The Lutz family has moved from the property of Mr. and Mrs. Russell McDill next to Fry's store and I understand a family associated with RCA will move into the house.

Becki found it necessary to resign as a Herald paper carrier this week what with becoming an all important freshman and the longer hours at school plus being a member of the band which means staying two nights a week after school for practice. She has been a bit "shook" since she surely had grand people on her route and many have expressed their regret at her leaving. It has been a bit like Christmas what with farewell tokens of appreciation being given to her. It is of course gratifying to know that her customers feel she served them well these past 16 months.

A note in the mail from Ruth (Mrs. Ernie) Minor states that she is in Massillon helping care for grandsons Mary, Phillip, and Jay Minor, children of Dale and Valerie while mama is at the hospital with brand spanking new baby sister Wendy Kathleen, born Aug. 28, weight 8 lbs., 3 oz. Ruth also relates that their daughter Judy and her hubby William Irwin and her two charmers, Amy and Emily surprised them with a visit the weekend of Aug. 21 through 24th. The Irwins are stationed at Bytheville Air Force Base, Ark.

The Mustang Round-up would be called a sell out again this year and by far the most popular attractions were the dunking machine and the water balloons. Being dunked were James Kibby, Bill Vance, Rev. Ed Linville, who all were "dressed" for the occasion and making a "hit" by entering into the spirit of the whole thing was our new principal, Roger Beck, who jauntily took his "dunkings" in his "good" clothes. He made the mistake of putting the challenge to me and with the purchase of three balls for a nominal sum I made the attempt but now being of any athletic prowess I was unable to hit the target with the thrown ball. Not about to waste a perfectly good quarter and not dunk him I simply took my hand and hit the aforementioned target. He got his and several bystanders encouraged the whole thing.

One of the fun spots of the evening was the introduction of a football team purported to be of a stature to give our boys a bit of a go. They were transported on to the field in a small car by Coach Jim Mowery and as the mighty eleven tumbled out they proved to be worthy opponents in the six and seven year old category. Don't laugh too hard, they knew their stuff!

It was with a mist in the eye and a bit of a lump in the throat we watched our band march across the field and play a concert. Here was our child, a member this band and entering another phase of her "growing-up." I was just as emotional when the football team was introduced. Most of these boys we have known since toddler stage and now in their uniforms they are ready to deal bone-crushing, bruising blows to the opposing teams and they really look very formidable indeed.

The talent show produced some very worthwhile acts and would have been quite enjoyable if the p.a. system had functioned considerably better than it did. It was a good, fun-time evening but being a bit sentimental I must admit that I really missed the traditional "Miss Mustang" parade.

Something new has been added to the local constabulary by the addition of Leonard Sines. He was hired during session of Council this past week and as with all new movements in government, be it national or local, there are critics, pro and con, but as for this writer I intend to adopt a wait and see policy. I understand a concentrated effort will be directed toward apprehending those drivers who have a tendency to be a bit heavy footed on the accelerator and the many who fail to heed the traffic light on Route 22. Like many others I fully support law and order to the degree of making life pleasant for all citizens but I do abhor a "police state." The local citizenry are for the most part honest, reliable and trustworthy and this includes our young folks so I hope there aren't so many restrictions that our folks like everyone everywhere who feel the "yoke" start to rebel and then it is trouble with a capital "T."

Speaking of our youth, one of our outstanding young men has been accorded quite an honor. Mike Puckett was chosen to be a member of the coveted All-Ohio Youth Choir. He has been making appearances all during the State Fair with the choir and on Monday a special parents concert will be proudly attended by his parents, Wilson (Roy) and Marcella Rutter Puckett. Mike is a junior at Westfall this year. We congratulate you, Mike!

Mary Wood of Pat's Beauty Salon is beginning to think in terms of jinxes or poltergeists. Her pride and joy (her car) has been hit again. Every time Mary gets her car out of the garage it gets banged again. This last time was a driverless car. The owner thought the car was in park position but unfortunately it somehow went into reverse and since the motor had been left running, ka-bang, Mary's car was at the wrong place at the wrong time once again — or poltergeists?

Our family still remains in tenuous as to the health and welfare of our Amy who has been under a doctor's care since the first of July. We have been on "hospital call" for surgery at Children's but temporarily that has been suspended and more tests will be done. We are grateful for the many prayers being said in her (and our) behalf and the deep concern of our many friends is very touching. We truly love you for it.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

CHS DECA Clubs Are At State Fair

Circleville High School DECA I and DECA II Clubs have been represented at the Ohio State Fair Distributive Education State DECA display in the Lausche Building by Debra Hoselton, Kathy Hoselton, Sheryl Hatfield, Becky Hoover, Christy Lintner, Susan Moore, Diana Quincel, Beverly Richardson, Judy Rose, Janette Zickafoos, Roberta Zimmerman and Troy Smith on Thursday and Friday.

Miss Sandy Tracy, the 1969 Miss Ohio DECA, Queen, has been representing the Circleville Alumni DECA Club since Wednesday of this week at the Fair.

These representatives are at the display six hours each day telling fairgoers about DE and DECA, explaining the displays, telling visitors what the winning Creative Marketing Research studies that are on display mean, helping them take a DE quiz and receive a report card after the test is completed, as well as helping the DECA State Scholarship Fund by selling "Put-Me-On" picture pins.

The Scholarship Fund is used by deserving DECA members to obtain college educations in the fields of marketing, management and merchandising.

The students were accompanied to the State Fair by their teacher-coordinators, Mrs. M. A. Greenwood and William Rosengarten, last week.

Childrens Hospital Serves Countians

During the past seven weeks, 37 children from Pickaway County have been treated at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

As the second largest pediatric medical center in the nation, Children's maintains a 75-year tradition of caring for children throughout Ohio and its bordering states. This treatment is provided regardless of the child's place of residence or parents' ability to pay for his care.

Last year over $800,000 in unpaid care was done at Children's. Admittance figures totaled 14,519 in 1969 with over 9,800 operations performed.

The hospital also has a Poison Control Center. Staff members of the center responded to 3,804 urgent calls in 1969.

8 Cleveland - Area Police Indicted In Rights Cases

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Eight Cleveland-area policemen were indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury here on charges of violating the civil rights of three persons in two separate incidents.

Cleveland Patrolman Donald S. Kupiecki, 31, was charged in the alleged beating of Julius Z. Boros, a National Broadcasting Co. cameraman from Chicago, during racial disturbances in the city's Glenville area in 1968.

Four Parma policemen and the chief of police and two other policemen from suburban Seven Hills were indicted in the alleged beating of John B. Stokely, 20, and Gerald M. Carr, 22, on Aug. 8, 1969.

Indicted were Joseph Bovenzi, 28; Victor D. Beleske, 30; Berald C. Dietrick, 28, and Joseph Kuchler Jr., 30, of Parma and Chief Robert B. Germans, 41, Sgt. Carmen N. Reddish and Patrolman Thomas M. Resek, 26, of Seven Hills.

Boros was charged that he photographed an arrest on the city's East Side on the morning of July 28, 1968, five days after three policemen and one civilian were fatally shot in a shoot-out between police and black nationalists.

Boros was acquitted by a jury in January, 1969, on a charge of assault filed by Kupiecki, who claimed Boros took his service revolver.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said in Washington that other complaints stemming from the 1968 Glenville disorders are still under investigation by the Justice Department.

The indictment against the Parma and Seven Hills policemen charged that they "willfully assaulted, battered, hit and struck" Stokely and Carr, depriving them of their "right not to be punished without a trial in a court of law."

Stokely and Carr, who now are in the Air Force, claim they were beaten during a manhunt for the assailants of an off-duty policeman.

Miss Pamela Vickers, 18, of Lakewood, who was allegedly with the women and has filed an $1.8 million damage suit, was not mentioned in the indictment.

The trio allegedly stopped their car to help a woman lying unconscious beside the road. They claimed they were taken from their car and beaten. The three denied they were involved in an alleged fight involving the off-duty policeman.

They were transported on to the field in a small car by Coach Jim Mowery and as the mighty eleven tumbled out they proved to be worthy opponents in the six and seven year old category. Don't laugh too hard, they knew their stuff!

It was with a mist in the eye and a bit of a lump in the throat we watched our band march across the field and play a concert. Here was our child, a member this band and entering another phase of her "growing-up." I was just as emotional when the football team was introduced. Most of these boys we have known since toddler stage and now in their uniforms they are ready to deal bone-crushing, bruising blows to the opposing teams and they really look very formidable indeed.

The talent show produced some very worthwhile acts and would have been quite enjoyable if the p.a. system had functioned considerably better than it did. It was a good, fun-time evening but being a bit sentimentally I must admit that I really missed the traditional "Miss Mustang" parade.

Something new has been added to the local constabulary by the addition of Leonard Sines. He was hired during session of Council this past week and as with all new movements in government, be it national or local, there are critics, pro and con, but as for this writer I intend to adopt a wait and see policy. I understand a concentrated effort will be directed toward apprehending those drivers who have a tendency to be a bit heavy footed on the accelerator and the many who fail to heed the traffic light on Route 22. Like many others I fully support law and order to the degree of making life pleasant for all citizens but I do abhor a "police state." The local citizenry are for the most part honest, reliable and trustworthy and this includes our young folks so I hope there aren't so many restrictions that our folks like everyone everywhere who feel the "yoke" start to rebel and then it is trouble with a capital "T."

Speaking of our youth, one of our outstanding young men has been accorded quite an honor. Mike Puckett was chosen to be a member of the coveted All-Ohio Youth Choir. He has been making appearances all during the State Fair with the choir and on Monday a special parents concert will be proudly attended by his parents, Wilson (Roy) and Marcella Rutter Puckett. Mike is a junior at Westfall this year. We congratulate you, Mike!

Mary Wood of Pat's Beauty Salon is beginning to think in terms of jinxes or poltergeists. Her pride and joy (her car) has been hit again. Every time Mary gets her car out of the garage it gets banged again. This last time was a driverless car. The owner thought the car was in park position but unfortunately it somehow went into reverse and since the motor had been left running, ka-bang, Mary's car was at the wrong place at the wrong time once again — or poltergeists?

Our family still remains in tenuousness as to the health and welfare of our Amy who has been under a doctor's care since the first of July. We have been on "hospital call" for surgery at Children's but temporarily that has been suspended and more tests will be done. We are grateful for the many prayers being said in her (and our) behalf and the deep concern of our many friends is very touching. We truly love you for it.

CHS DECA Clubs Are At State Fair

Circleville High School DECA I and DECA II Clubs have been represented at the Ohio State Fair Distributive Education State DECA display in the Lausche Building by Debra Hoselton, Kathy Hoselton, Sheryl Hatfield, Becky Hoover, Christy Lintner, Susan Moore, Diana Quincel, Beverly Richardson, Judy Rose, Janette Zickfoos, Roberta Zimmerman and Troy Smith on Thursday and Friday.

Miss Sandy Tracy, the 1969 Miss Ohio DECA, Queen, has been representing the Circleville Alumni DECA Club since Wednesday of this week at the Fair.

These representatives are at the display six hours each day telling fairgoers about DE and DECA, explaining the displays, telling visitors what the winning Creative Marketing Research studies that are on display mean, helping them take a DE quiz and receive a report card after the test is completed, as well as helping the DECA State Scholarship Fund by selling "Put-Me-On" picture pins.

The Scholarship Fund is used by deserving DECA members to obtain college educations in the fields of marketing, management and merchandising.

The students were accompanied to the State Fair by their teacher-coordinators, Mrs. M. A. Greenwood and William Rosengarten, last week.

Childrens Hospital Serves Countians

During the past seven weeks, 37 children from Pickaway County have been treated at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

As the second largest pediatric medical center in the nation, Children's maintains a 75-year tradition of caring for children throughout Ohio and its bordering states. This treatment is provided regardless of the child's place of residence or parents' ability to pay for his care.

Last year over $800,000 in unpaid care was done at Children's. Admittance figures totaled 14,519 in 1969 with over 9,800 operations performed.

The hospital also has a Poison Control Center. Staff members of the center responded to 3,804 urgent calls in 1969.

8 Cleveland - Area Police Indicted In Rights Cases

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Eight Cleveland-area policemen were indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury here on charges of violating the civil rights of three persons in two separate incidents.

Cleveland Patrolman Donald S. Kupiecki, 31, was charged in the alleged beating of Julius Z. Boros, a National Broadcasting Co. cameraman from Chicago, during racial disturbances in the city's Glenville area in 1968.

Four Parma policemen and the chief of police and two other policemen from suburban Seven Hills were indicted in the alleged beating of John B. Stokely, 20, and Gerald M. Carr, 22, on Aug. 8, 1969.

Indicted were Joseph Bovenzi, 28; Victor D. Beleske, 30; Berald C. Dietrich, 28, and Joseph Kuchler Jr., 30, of Parma and Chief Robert B. Germana, 41, Sgt. Carmen N. Reddish and Patrolman Thomas M. Resek, 26, of Seven Hills.

Boros, 37, charged that he photographed an arrest on the city's East Side on the morning of July 28, 1968, five days after three policemen and one civilian were fatally shot in a shoot-out between police and black nationalists.

Boros was acquitted by a jury in January, 1969, on a charge of assault filed by Kupiecki, who claimed Boros took his service revolver.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said in Washington that other complaints stemming from the 1968 Glenville disorders are still under investigation by the Justice Department.

The indictment against the Parma and Seven Hills policemen charged that they "willfully assaulted, battered, hit and struck" Stokely and Carr, depriving them of their "right not to be punished without a trial in a court of law."

Stokely and Carr, who now are in the Air Force, claim they were beaten during a manhunt for the assailants of an off-duty policeman.

Miss Pamela Vickers, 18, of Lakewood, who was allegedly with the women and has filed an $1.8 million damage suit, was not mentioned in the indictment.

The trio allegedly stopped their car to help a woman lying unconscious beside the road. They claimed they were taken from their car and beaten. The three denied they were involved in an alleged fight involving the off-duty policeman.

1970 Hunting And Trapping Tags On Sale

Dan C. Armbruster, Chief, Division of Wildlife, announced that the 1970 Hunting and trapping licenses have been mailed to license agents throughout the state. The new licenses are valid from September 1, 1970, to August 31, 1971.

Hunters under 16 of age must be accompanied by an adult. Hunters and trappers are reminded that a license is required regardless of age.

A hunting and trapping license is not required in the following exceptions: 1. A member of the U.S. Armed Forces on leave or furlough carrying a card or other evidence identifying him as a person on active duty in the armed forces of the United States. 2. The landowner and children of the owner while hunting or trapping on their land. 3. The tenant or manager and children of same while hunting or trapping on the land where they reside.

Resident licenses, costing $4.00 plus 35c writing fee, are for U. S. citizens who have resided in Ohio at least six months preceding the date of application for license. Non-resident licenses are for all persons not qualified as a resident. Cost is $20.00 plus 35c writing fee.

Hunting and trapping licenses may be purchased at most stores handling sporting goods. Duplicate licenses and permits cost $1.00 plus 35c writing fee. If a license or permit is lost, stolen or destroyed, Clerk of Court of Common Pleas in any county may accept an application under oath for a duplicate.

The 1970 Ohio Hunting and Trapping Guide, a full color brochure, is available from all hunting license agencies. This guide provides a digest of 1970 hunting and trapping laws, as well as detailed hunting and trapping information. Chief Armbruster reminds all hunters to obtain a copy when they purchase their new 1970 license.

Cincy Belts Giants, 7-3; Pennant Magic Number 15

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose and Johnny Bench led the resurging Reds in a 14-hit attack Thursday night battering the San Francisco Giants 7-3 in their last appearance at Cincinnati this season.

The win, coupled with the Los Angeles Dodgers' loss to the Atlanta Braves, increased Cincinnati's lead to 12 in the National League's western division.

Any combination of 15 Cincinnati wins or Los Angeles losses will clinch the division title for the Reds.

Rose put the Reds in front in the first-inning with his 13th home run of the season and extending his hit streak to 10 games. The game was delayed 47 minutes in starting by the rain and was interrupted in the fifth and seventh innings.

Play was able to resume each time as ground keepers brushed off the astro turf with rubber brushes.

"It was our best hitting in a long time," said Rose who had three runs batted in for the night on two hits and a ground-out.

"When I drive in three runs we've got to win the game."

Giant Manager Charley Fox, disappointed with his team's 1-2 performance in the series said:

"It's tough to keep a hitting club like the Reds down. Every man in the lineup can hit the ball well."

He said he rested Willie Mays Thursday night because he had been tiring. Mays struck out with one on in the eighth to end the game.

Clay Carroll, who relieved starter Tony Cloninger (7-5) in the eighth inning said he knew "Mays could hit any kind of a pitch so I threw him a couple of fast balls and got him with a curve."

Reds' Johnny Bench, normally a catcher, played left field and drilled three hits including a double and drove in two runs.

"I feel I have my stroke back," said Bench who had been in a slump.

"I like playing the outfield because it is relaxing to get out from behind the plate once in awhile."

The Reds are ahead 8-7 in the series with the Giants this year.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Last week we gave you our thoughts on the college football picture and now we would like to expound our thoughts on the boys who "play for pay".

Under the new alignment of a National and American Conference with three divisions in each conference there should be a mad scramble before anyone gains the laurels.

In the National conference it appears the Western Division title will go to the West Coast with the Rams edging the 49ers. The Central Division crown will go to the Vikings with the Lions making them earn it. The Cowboys will corral the honors in the Eastern Division but Fran Tarkenton and the Giants could be a darkhorse.

In the American Conference the Chiefs should again nip the Raiders for the Western Division crown. The Eastern Division shapes up with newcomers, coach Don Shula and pass receiver Paul Warfield, giving the Dolphins more help than Namath gives the Jets. We like the Browns in the Central Division but look out for the Steelers — they could be the surprise team of the year.

Our little gem of information — The world's longest golf hole is the 17th at Black Mountain Golf Club, North Carolina. It measures 745 yards and plays to a par six.

Our "fearless" forecast — Just like the movies, the Cowboys will outgun the Chiefs and "head them off with a pass". . . The Browns will be ready for the invasion of the Vikings . . . Bengals will have a let-down against the Packers.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

1970 Hunting And Trapping Tags On Sale

Dan C. Armbruster, Chief, Division of Wildlife, announced that the 1970 Hunting and trapping licenses have been mailed to license agents throughout the state. The new licenses are valid from September 1, 1970, to August 31, 1971.

Hunters under 16 of age must be accompanied by an adult. Hunters and trappers are reminded that a license is required regardless of age.

A hunting and trapping license is not required in the following exceptions: 1. A member of the U.S. Armed Forces on leave or furlough carrying a card or other evidence identifying him as a person on active duty in the armed forces of the United States. 2. The landowner and children of the owner while hunting or trapping on their land. 3. The tenant or manager and children of same while hunting or trapping on the land where they reside.

Resident licenses, costing $4.00 plus 35¢ writing fee, are for U. S. citizens who have resided in Ohio at least six months preceding the date of application for license. Non-resident licenses are for all persons not qualified as a resident. Cost is $20.00 plus 35¢ writing fee.

Hunting and trapping licenses may be purchased at most stores handling sporting goods. Duplicate licenses and permits cost $1.00 plus 35¢ writing fee. If a license or permit is lost, stolen or destroyed, Clerk of Court of Common Pleas in any county may accept an application under oath for a duplicate.

The 1970 Ohio Hunting and Trapping Guide, a full color brochure, is available from all hunting license agencies. This guide provides a digest of 1970 hunting and trapping laws, as well as detailed hunting and trapping information. Chief Armbruster reminds all hunters to obtain a copy when they purchase their new 1970 license.

Cincy Belts Giants, 7-3; Pennant Magic Number 15

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose and Johnny Bench led the resurging Reds in a 14-hit attack Thursday night battering the San Francisco Giants 7-3 in their last appearance at Cincinnati this season.

The win, coupled with the Los Angeles Dodgers' loss to the Atlanta Braves, increased Cincinnati's lead to 12 in the National League's western division.

Any combination of 15 Cincinnati wins or Los Angeles losses will clinch the division title for the Reds.

Rose put the Reds in front in the first-inning with his 13th home run of the season and extending his hit streak to 10 games. The game was delayed 47 minutes in starting by the rain and was interrupted in the fifth and seventh innings.

Play was able to resume each time as ground keepers brushed off the astro turf with rubber brushes.

"It was our best hitting in a long time," said Rose who had three runs batted in for the night on two hits and a ground-out.

"When I drive in three runs we've got to win the game."

Giants Manager Charley Fox, disappointed with his team's 1-2 performance in the series said:

"It's tough to keep a hitting club like the Reds down. Every man in the lineup can hit the ball well."

He said he rested Willie Mays Thursday night because he had been tiring. Mays struck out with one on in the eighth to end the game.

Clay Carroll, who relieved starter Tony Cloninger (7-5) in the eighth inning said he knew "Mays could hit any kind of a pitch so I threw him a couple of fast balls and got him with a curve."

Reds' Johnny Bench, normally a catcher, played left field and drilled three hits including a double and drove in two runs. "I feel I have my stroke back," said Bench who had been in a slump.

"I like playing the outfield because it is relaxing to get out from behind the plate once in awhile."

The Reds are ahead 8-7 in the series with the Giants this year.

The Circleville Pigeon Club held its second race of the 1970 Young Bird Series from Maysville, Ky. Sunday.

Eugene Iles won first and Loft Derby with 1416.5297 YPM. Paul Haddox took second place with 1406.6338 YPM. Iles Loft placed again with 1406.3252 YPM for fourth. Stan Crosby won Bird Derby.

NBA Launches Slate Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — National Basketball Association teams will launch an 85-game pre-season schedule on Saturday, Sept. 19, the NBA announced today.

The Buffalo Braves and Cleveland Cavaliers, two of three new NBA franchises, meet at Wooster, Ohio, in the exhibition opener. The Portland Trail Blazers, the other expansion club, plays against the San Francisco Warriors at Longview, Wash., Sept. 24.

The world champion New York Knickerbockers also will swing into action on Sept. 24, meeting the Detroit Pistons at Ann Arbor, Mich.

The exhibition campaign, which runs through Oct. 12, will bring NBA clubs to 25 states, including Hawaii.

Tickets Available

Season tickets are still available for the Circleville High School football games. They may be obtained from Mrs. Jane Truex of the Circleville Booster Club.

CITATION TO PARENT BY PUBLICATION
The State of Ohio, Pickaway County Court of Common Pleas, Juvenile Division

In the Matter of Elvis Harris
A Dependent Child
Said child is hereby cited to appear and Gloria Belle Harris, the mother of said child, and any other person having custody or control of said child, or with whom the same may be, to personally be and appear with said child, before the Judge of the Juvenile Court on the 11th day of September, 1970 at 10:00 A.M. at the Court House in said County in the matter of said child and this shall be in no wise null under penalty of the law. A person so cited and failing to appear may be punished as in any other cases for contempt of court.
The nature of the complaint in this case is as follows: that Pickaway County Children Services Board requests permanent custody of Elvis Harris.
In Testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court, this 1st day of September, 1970.

SPORTS Highlights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three of the four first-division teams lost as the International League ended its regular baseball season Thursday night.

The pennant-winning Syracuse Chiefs were beaten by the third-place Rochester Red Wings 6-3 in a game shortened to seven innings by agreement, the second-place Columbus Jets bowed to the Louisville Colonels 3-2 and the fourth-place Tidewater Tides lost to the Richmond Braves 9-3.

Winnipeg's Whips, who were solidly entrenched in the basement when the franchise was moved from Buffalo early in the season, wound up seventh and doomed Toledo to the basement with a 9-2 victory over the Mud Hens.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Lanell, driven by Richard Hackett, came from second in the stretch to win the featured $1,200 seventh race at Scioto Downs Thursday.

Lanell paid $17, $6.80 and $5.20 for the win. Place horse Dixanna Kathy paid $25.80 and $8 and show horse Bill's Snookums offered $4.80.

The 3-2 daily double paid $34.40 and the 1-9 quinnella was good for $108.60.

Attendance was 4,385. Total handle was $182,002.

The present your son wants least...

He'd rather have a football, or a new bike. He'd never ask for insurance. But it's something he really needs. Just like a money tree, State Farm's Junior Protector Policy can grow with your son to give him cash for college... for emergencies. Or, it can keep growing when he has a son, too. And, guaranteed insurability allows him to expand coverage in the future. Call me today.

SPORTS Highlights
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three of the four first-division teams lost as the International League ended its regular baseball season Thursday night.

The pennant-winning Syracuse Chiefs were beaten by the third-place Rochester Red Wings 6-3 in a game shortened to seven innings by agreement, the second-place Columbus Jets bowed to the Louisville Colonels 3-2 and the fourth - place Tidewater Tides lost to the Richmond Braves 9-3.

Winnipeg's Whips, who were solidly entrenched in the basement when the franchise was moved from Buffalo early in the season, wound up seventh and doomed Toledo to the basement with a 9-2 victory over the Mud Hens.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Lanell, driven by Richard Hackett, came from second in the stretch to win the featured $1,200 seventh race at Scioto Downs Thursday.

Lanell paid $17, $6.80 and $5.20 for the win. Place horse Dixanna Kathy paid $25.80 and $8 and show horse Bill's Snookums offered $4.80.

The 3-2 daily double paid $34.40 and the 1-9 quinella was good for $108.60.

Attendance was 4,385. Total handle was $182,002.

MY SON, MY SON - Anguish is shown in the faces of Francis Dalglish and his mother in Sydney, Australia, after his arrival from Texas, where he posed as a doctor in a small town. He is suffering from an incurable kidney disease.

THE PRESENT YOUR SON WANTS LEAST...
He'd rather have a football, or a new bike. He'd never ask for insurance. But it's something he really needs.

Just like a money tree, State Farm's Junior Protector Policy can grow with your son to give him cash for college... for emergencies. Or, it can keep growing when he has a son, too. And, guaranteed insurability allows him to expand coverage in the future. Call me today.

How The Weather Looks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official weather bureau summary for Ohio:
Ohio experienced breezy mild weather last night. Showers gradually diminished during the night. Early this morning temperatures were in the upper 60s and low 70s ranging from 67 at Toledo and Cleveland to 74 at Ironton.

It will be a little cooler tonight and in the northern sections of the state Saturday. Temperatures are expected to rise into the upper 70s in the north Saturday. Fair and warm weather is the outlook for Sunday and the next showery weather is likely to move into the state about Sunday night or Monday.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Partly cloudy and cooler tonight, lows in the 60s. Saturday partly cloudy and a little cooler north, highs in the upper 70s extreme north and 80s elsewhere.

NORTHWEST INLAND AND WEST LAKE SHORE — Partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Saturday, lows in the lower 60s. Highs Saturday in the upper 70s. Outlook for Sunday fair and mild.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL AND SOUTHWEST — Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday. A little cooler tonight, lows in the mid and upper 60s. High Saturday in the 80s.

EAST CENTRAL AND SOUTHEAST — Variable cloudiness with a chance of showers or thundershowers early tonight. A little cooler tonight, lows in the mid and upper 60s. Partly cloudy Saturday highs in the 80s. Outlook for Sunday fair and warm.

Church Sets Services

DR. PAUL ORJALA

Special services are scheduled for the Southwest Church of the Nazarene across from Clark Lakes on Ballah Road just east of 3-C.

The services will be 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 10:40 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. Paul R. Orjala, member of the faculty at the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Mo., will be the speaker.

Orjala is head of the department of world missions and professor of missions. He started in the fall of 1964.

Orjala pioneered the work of the Nazarene church in Haiti, where he commenced in 1950. The work spread rapidly and several churches were organized together with a Bible school.

A native of California, Orjala is a graduate of Pasadena College, Pasadena, Calif., and the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City.

He received the master of arts degree in 1956 from the Kennedy School of Missions, Hartford, Conn. He has completed the course requirements for the doctoral program in linguistics and anthropology at the Hartford Theological Seminary, Hartford, Conn. He received his doctorate degree from the Kennedy School of Missions.

State Sues To Enforce Cleveland Ban

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A state suit to stop Cleveland from issuing new sewer construction permits is to be heard in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Sept. 17.

Common Pleas Judge George J. McMonagle Thursday issued a temporary restraining order against the city, to become effective next Wednesday.

The attorney general's office said in the suit that Cleveland was violating orders of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board, which banned sewer construction in Cleveland in April to prevent additional pollution of Lake Erie and the Cuyahoga River.

The city unilaterally lifted the ban in June, saying improvements at three waste treatment plants would permit new construction without new pollution.

John M. West, an assistant attorney general, said state engineers had seen "no improvement" since the city lifted the ban.

"In fact," West said, "it may even be worse. As long as new sewer connections are made, it can only add to the problem."

City officials contend a ban on sewer connections would halt millions of dollars' worth of new construction.

Sheriff Lists August Report

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff released the activity report for his department for the month of August.

They investigated 52 accidents, a drop of 38 over the July report, including one fatal accident in which one person was killed. There were 17 injury accidents, down 12 from the July report, with 25 persons injured. They also investigated 29 property damage accidents.

Reckless operation and driving left of center were again the leading causes of accidents. Eighteen citations were issued, 12 less than the previous month. Saturday and Wednesday were the most accident prone days with 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. the most dangerous time.

Circleville Township again led the county in the number of mishaps.

Sixty-five offense reports were handled, 18 less than the previous month, including 13 petit larceny, 16 breaking and entering, 12 malicious destruction, nine miscellaneous offense, eight grand larceny and two sex offense.

Circleville and Harrison Townships again were the hardest hit in the county.

The department handled 235 aid and incident reports, an increase of 50 over the July report, with Circleville and Harrison again leading the way.

Firemen Called

Bella Maynard, 531 Springhollow Road, reported a fire in her auto Friday morning.

Firemen answered the alarm at 6:20 today at the Maynard home. They discovered the smoke was caused by oil leaking on the exhaust pipe.

There was no loss.

OLD-TIMER REBORN — An ancient log cabin, uncovered when the residence at 207 E. High St. was being razed, will be reconstructed on the property of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Stambaugh, Route 1, Stoutsville. The Stambaughs contracted to purchase the logs which they will have reassembled and rechinked as originally finished. Approximately 9 by 12 feet in size, door and window openings were altered from the original at the time the more substantial home was built around it.

Bahai's Set World Peace Day Program

World Peace Day will be observed by Baha'is throughout the United States on Sunday, Sept. 20. The purpose of World Peace Day is to point up the role of America in the promotion of World Peace. As Baha'is are also observing International Education Year the theme for the day is "Universal Education — Aid to World Peace."

Area Baha'is will participate in a program at Park of Roses Auditorium, 3923 North High St. 3:30 p.m. Sept. 20, sponsored by the Columbus Baha'i Community. Speaker will be Mr. Paul Vaughn, formerly of the Baha'i Community of Santa Barbara, California.

He will present a slide program entitled "Fire and Show" showing Baha'is in many lands, including Vietnam. Music by Baha'i youth and refreshments will conclude the program to which general public is cordially invited. The Baha'i Area Group represents many cities of eastern and southern Ohio, including Circleville.

Former Resident Promoted By 84 Lumber Co.

Terry Thompson, who started as a salesman with 84 Lumber Co., at the Circleville store, has been named manager of a new lumber distribution center at Lexington, Ky.

Thompson was promoted from his position as comanager of the Charleston, W. Va., outlet.
